Ex-Alderman J. Allen Couch, former mayor pro tem, late Thursday night won vindication at the hands of a jury in Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy's division of Fulton superior court when a verdict was received finding Couch not guilty of the charge of being interested in a city contract for automobiles.

The jury brought in its verdict within two hours of deliberation, and at 11:30 o'clock Couch began phoning his close friends to inform them of the rest. For a time, it appeared that the jury was in a deadlock, a report to Judge Pomeroy giving the numerical position of the jurors as seven to five half an hour before the verdict was reached.

"I am extremely happy over the verdict, and I appreciate the loyalty of every friend I've got," Couch said. "I felt all the time that the verdict would be what it is, for I did not do any wrong, and had no wrong in my heart."

In his statement to the jury in his own defense, Couch admitted receiving $200 from D. P. Butler, Marietta automobile dealer, but said that he was not interested in a city contract, nor did he demand that Butler pay him the money. Couch said the money was offered him and accepted after the contract with the city was closed. He recounted his long service with the city as both councilman and alderman.

Judge Pomeroy sent the case to the jury after overruling a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal. Couch was defended by Paul S. Etheridge and Lindley Camp. The trial began Thursday morning after having been postponed on several occasions because of various reasons.

Contending that the transactions involved took place in Marietta, Cobb county, and that Fulton superior court did not have venue in the case, Defense Counsel Paul Etheridge moved for the directed verdict. The motion was resisted by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who cited authorities to uphold venue of Judge Pomeroy's court.

On the conclusion of argument on the motion, Judge Pomeroy ordered the jury back into the box, and the state called ex-councilman J. A. Beall as its next witness.

Food and Medical Atten- tion Given Sealer's Crew on Horse Island.

BALCHEN IS FORCED TO POSTPONE FLIGHT

BOSTON, March 19.—(AP)—Bert Balchen, who was engaged to fly to Horse Island, N. F., in a search for Varick Frissell, one of the missing in the Viking disaster, tonight announced that the proposed flight had been postponed because of adverse weather conditions.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 19.—(AP) Food came to the Viking survivors today, medical attention to the injured—but behind the hummocks of ice in the bleak sea of the northland there still was sealed the fate of two Americans and 16 Newfoundland seal hunters.

The struggle of the crews of three sealers to drag food and medical supplies from their ships to Horse island, five miles over slippery, treacherous ice, was rewarded with success shortly before noon.

Doctors from the rescue ships dashed immediately to the injured, extending first aid.

The food found 118 men who had been subsisting since Monday on tea and crackers, crowding for warmth into the five little homes that form the island's city. They were being put aboard the sealer Sagona tonight.

The 118 men had dragged themselves eight miles across the ice after an explosion tore the Viking asunder Sunday night. Six more, including Harry Sargent, Boston explorer, were picked up by the Sagona from ice floes.

Hope of finding the remaining 18 is pinned upon Bert Balchen, who planned to take off with a rescue plane from Boston at midnight to scan the ice-jammed sea. Among the missing are Varick Frissell, New York movie producer, and his cameraman, A. G. Penrod.

En route to the Sagona, fitted as a hospital ship and prepared to proceed to St. John's, the survivors on the island were being detained aboard the sealer Imogene for food and rest.

The six men picked up by the Sagona were suffering the effects of exposure. Navigator W. Kennedy contracted pneumonia; Operator C.

Alabama Girls' Reform School Correctly Run, Is Verdict of Board After Hearing.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 19.—(AP)—The board of trustees of Alabama Girls' Training School, after listening to testimony for nine hours, tonight voted eight to three that Mrs. Ira B. Champion, superintendent, was not guilty of inhumane treatment of inmates of the institution.

Governor R. M. Miller said she would remain at her post.

The board voted unanimously that Mrs. Champion was not guilty of misappropriating state funds.

Mrs. Champion's removal was recommended by a legislative committee that took testimony of thirty-six witnesses last week in an investigation at the institution.

The testimony included 36 witnesses and the 191-page transcript was the major portion of the testimony presented to the board and Governor B. M. Miller who presided at the open hearing today.

Mrs. Champion on being asked for a statement after a summary of the charges against her five-year administration of the school, said: "I deny them," and late today created a sensation by charging the committee members with "familiarity and hugging" girl inmates brought before them to testify as to the conduct of the administration.

Representative Lewey Robinson, of Jefferson county, denied the charges and in turn said he had been "warned" that Mrs. Champion would "stop at no measure to besmirch the character of the committee, if they attempted a fair investigation."

Mrs. Champion admitted use of handcuffs and a strait-jacket, declaring that she had used the former on inmates from "the board" of trustees who a girl repeatedly attempted to run away.

She also charged that Representative Robinson had told the girls to say "anything they wanted to" as she (Mrs. Champion) was going to be removed. She said the girls came screaming to her, that the same day after Mrs. Champion left the stand, Representative Robinson took the floor and denied familiarity with any of the girls, adding, "the committee was together at all times and was not in the least familiar."

Mrs. E. M. Vincent, a matron, was called, and under questioning by Representative Robinson said that the girls "were hugged by one of the girls," and added, "I couldn't blame them as they hadn't seen a good-looking man in so long."

The superintendent whose removal was recommended by the legislative committee denied that she had ever maliciously whipped any of the girl inmates and made a blanket denial of the other charges which included keeping girls in handcuffs, keeping them in solitary confinement for long periods and other corporal punishment for acts of minor infractions.

A dentist formerly employed at the school but who testified he lost his position through Mrs. Champion, testified he treated a number of girls who had their heads shaved. Some of them, he said, would show their wrists where they were sore and one girl came into his office with her face sore from her lips to her ear, saying that they had placed adhesive plaster over her mouth.

A physician also testified that he resigned because of friction with Mrs. Champion. He said girls were constantly released from the school who were under treatment for communicable diseases.

A former clerical employee at the institution charged the superintendent with laxity in handling funds, that no vouchers were kept for expenditures and that Mrs. Champion ordered herself on not having an audit of the books since she took charge.

A Birmingham minister and former trustee said that in his opinion Mrs. Champion was not the type of woman to be superintendent of a school like that.

Saw Girl Whipped.

A former employee said she saw a girl "whipped in the dining room until the blood came because she would not eat turnip greens. Another was whipped with an umbrella for playing in the tub and another put in her room perfectly nude and other girls saw her in that condition, because she ran away."

One of the 22 girls said she ran away from the school and was handcuffed with her hands behind her back for three weeks. Another who ran away testified she was met at the gate with a pair of handcuffs and "slapped and beat around like a dog."

An inmate testified that one of the

SENATE DOUBLES TAX ON CIGARETS WITH AMENDMENT

Upper House Devotes
Thursday to Taxation
After Again Sustaining
Rentals Veto.

BY R. E. POWELL.

Taxation bills which have been held back: pending final action on the bill to sell Western & Atlantic railroad rentals, which the senate has put to sleep for 90-odd days, engaged the attention of the general assembly on its seventy-first day of an extraordinary session Thursday.

Adopting an amendment increasing the cigar and cigarette tax from 10 to 20 per cent, the senate passed the house bill and at an afternoon session held a hearing on the general tax bill.

The house, at its morning session, passed the bill to strike the offset clause from the sales tax act but refused to concur in an amendment to the income tax bill, placed by the senate, making the basis of assessments on railroads and public utilities on "net income" rather than "net operating income."

Little ceremony or excitement accompanied the irretrievable defeat of the Battle-Allen bill, a motion to reconsider Wednesday's action, by which the senate failed by five votes to override the governor's veto, winning easily enough but the vote on the motion to override failing again by six votes. The loss was accounted for in the absence of Mrs. Charles E. Cannon, senator from the fourth district who voted with the proponents all the way through.

Senator Shelby Myrick, of the first district, did not let the opportunity pass to notify the minority which succeeded in sustaining the Hardman veto, and whose members had been labeled as the "21 immortals," that the same bill would be passed at the regular session "when our governor is in the high chair down there."

I am sorry to inform my friends of the opposition," Myrick said, as he explained his vote on the bill for the last time, that this immortality so readily conferred will last but a short three months.

"Both sides have won," he said, addressing the opposition. "You have won the fight to inform the hands of your governor. But we have won the fight to prevent you from taking highway funds. Not soon will legislative hands be placed upon them."

Sponsored by Senator Matthews, the original Kennedy bill, offered as an amendment to the general tax act, was approved by the finance committee of the upper house in a long Thursday afternoon session. It levies a tax of 2 mills per kilowatt hour on power companies, 10 cents per 1,000 cubic feet on gas companies and a 4 per cent tax on telephone and telegraph corporation incomes in excess of $50,000.

Advocates of the house measure to strike the offset clause from the sales tax estimated that it would yield the state from $400,000 to $500,000 a year. The bill, after passing the house, was hurried to the senate but failed to reach there in time for a first reading Thursday.

Efforts to get this measure passed by both houses, and to reach an agreement on the income tax and general tax legislation, raised doubt as to the time for a sine die adjournment, although leaders were bending their energies to adjourn before 6 o'clock Saturday. A house resolution to adjourn by noon Saturday was lost at the opening of Thursday's session by a vote of 119 to 41.

Also pending in the senate is the bill to place additional taxes on motor carriers. The house passed another regulatory measure of limit the speed of buses and trucks to the maximum under the state speed laws but it must be returned to the senate for concurrence in amendments.

"With a citizen's board of trustees in charge of the general management and expansion of Grady hospital, there is opportunity for a closer co-operation of old medical interests here, and a distinct opportunity for the development of Atlanta as a southern medical center of national importance," said Dr. Michael Davis, of Chicago, at a luncheon given in his honor by Dr. W. W. Alexander, at the Atlanta Athletic Club yesterday. Among the guests present were Mayor James L. Key, Dr. James R. McCord, Dr. J. E. Paulin, Dr. Harvey Cox, president of Emory University; Dr. Russell H. Oppenheimer, superintendent of Wesley Memorial hospital; Dr. Stewart Roberts, Dr. R. H. Fike, Dr. Dan C. Elkin, Kendall Weisiger, J. L. Nisbet, C. F. Palmer, Dudley Cowles, Clark Howell, Jr., Frank Beck, Beverly DuBose, John E. Smith, Julian Harris, Clark Foreman and Philip Wolner.

Dr. Davis, the guest of honor, is head of the medical service department of the Rosenwald Foundation and a member of the board of trustees of the parent organization. In opening his brief but to-the-point talk, the Chicago medical leader revealed that Dr. James R. McCord, professor of obstetrics of the School of Medicine of Emory University, had refused an unusual offer made to him by the University of Chicago.

"Atlanta and the south are to be congratulated on Dr. McCord's decision," Dr. Davis said.

Three Others of Family Seriously Injured From Attack by Father With Hammer.

BUCHANAN, Ga., March 19.—(AP) Thomas Latham, 45-year-old farmer, beat his wife and a six-year-old daughter to death with a hammer at their home near here early today, and seriously injured three other children before committing suicide in what a coroner's jury found to have been a fit of insanity.

The inquest verdict was returned late this evening after neighbors had testified to recent ill health and financial worries of the farmer, and of the ghastly events of the early morning.

Physicians reported that the injured children were still alive but that two in a Cedartown hospital were not out of danger.

The dead: Thomas Latham, 45, the father; Lois Latham, 40, the mother; and Erlene, their 6-year-old daughter.

The injured: Beryl, 10; Grady, 13, and T. J. Latham, 15. The first two named are in a hospital at Cedartown where they are expected to live. T. J. Latham was taken to an Atlanta hospital for an X-ray examination.

A fifth child, 8 years old, asleep in his father's bed, escaped without injury. The sixth, Eloise Latham, the oldest daughter, was in school at Powder Springs.

Thomas Latham, according to neighbors, told them he was attacked first by his father who was returning from the woods with a hammer between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning, when the family was arising.

The father, the son said, struck him three times on the head but he managed to get to a neighbor's house and called the sheriff who was informed that "father is killing us all."

While he was away from the house, the father entered, killed his wife by blows at the head from the hammer and attacked the other two children, who suffered severe injuries about the head.

Sheriff G. B. Richards, of Haralson county, said that when he arrived at the Latham home, he found the father dead from a shotgun discharge through the mouth, the mother beaten to death with the hammer and Erlene in such a condition that she died before reaching the hospital.

The sheriff said there was no question that Latham was "insane" because, Richards said, "no sane man could have done what he did." Neighbors informed him, the sheriff reported, that Latham had been in ill health for sometime and worried over farm crops.

The Lathams have lived in what is known as the Philadelphia church community in this county for many years and were widely known.

of Renowned Dentist.

Funeral services for Dr. Thomas Philip Hinman, 60, nationally-known Atlanta dentist and dean of the Southern Dental College who died shortly after 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon at his home, 151 Fifteenth street, of complications following a heart attack suffered last May, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in Spring Hill chapel. Interment will take place privately in the West View vault.

Dr. Green Warren, Dr. Sam Silverman, Dr. Joseph Osbourne, Dr. Fred W. Anderson, Dr. Nelson Martin and M. B. North will serve as pallbearers, and an honorary escort will be composed of the faculty of the Southern Dental College, officers and directors of the First National Bank, officers and directors of the Atlanta Steel Company, members of the Atlanta Art Association and elders of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, of which Dr. Hinman was a member.

The Southern Dental College will be closed all day today in tribute to the noted dentist.

After the attack last May Dr. Hinman was confined to his bed.

SUSPECT CONFESSES SABOTAGE PLANS

AKRON, Ohio, March 19.—(AP) A confession that he planned to see that the navy dirigible Akron, now under construction here, "never did take the air" was made here late tonight to federal and county officials by Paul F. Kassay, 37, communist and former Austro-Hungarian naval officer, assistant United States District Attorney William J. McDermott, announced.

Kassay told his questioners he "had his own reasons for not wanting the ship to take the air." He said he was a member of the communist party, but declined to state the nature or duration of his affiliation.

The confession implicated no others, the officials said.

AKRON, Ohio, March 19.—(UP) Federal secret service operatives raided the home of a former Hungarian naval officer tonight, placed him under arrest on charges of violating Ohio's syndicalism law, and disclosed mysterious phases of what they claim was a plot to sabotage the world's greatest dirigible, now in process of construction for the United States navy.

Paul F. Kassay, skilled workman for the Goodyear Dirigible Company, which is building the airship Akron for the government, was taken to a police station under guard of United States justice department agents, county officers and attaches of the district attorney's office. Tonight he was being questioned regarding what several officials term "an amazing suggestion of peace-time espionage."

Under the state law, Kassay is directly charged "by word of mouth" with having "urged criminal violence" against the government.

Part of plans showing the longitudinal section of the Akron, skillfully drawn to scale, but without figures, was found in his home, police said. Nothing in Kassay's work at the Goodyear plant warranted his having possession of the drawings, they asserted.

The prisoner is 37 years old, near-

DEMAND INCREASES FOR HOT CROSS BUNS

Among the early signs of spring and Easter are the many hot cross bun posters appearing in local bakery windows. Hot cross buns are a popular Lenten food and are served in many homes each day. Children are seen eating these sugar-coated raisin and currant filled buns on the streets. Hot cross buns are just as big a favorite for Lent as pumpkin pies for Thanksgiving. In fact, these buns are now on the daily shopping list of many housewives. Every year during Lent it seems that more hot cross buns are being eaten than during the same period the year previous. Last year Lenten hot cross bun sales were higher than ever before. This year an unprecedented demand for this Lenten food is expected.

Those who have tried this year's hot cross buns say they have a spicy, appetizing flavor and high food value. Bakers use the finest ingredients and most scientific baking methods to make these tempting buns, fresh every day until Easter. Due to their ever increasing demand bakers are advising their customers to place their orders early.

BULLET IN HEART, ARKANSAN LIVES

With a small-caliber bullet, said to have been fired by H. G. Landsale, of Atlanta, lodged in the right auricle of his heart, W. U. McCabe, representative from Baxter county in the Arkansas legislature, continues to live, though his case is one of the few in medical annals, according to surgeons at the Little Rock hospital where McCabe has been confined since the shooting on March 12.

The very seriousness of the wound probably was the indirect cause of his continuing to live, physicians pointed out. McCabe's heart action, they pointed out, was so weak that it became possible for a blood clot to form in the wound made by the bullet, sealing it and increasing his pulse action. They declared an operation was impossible as death would follow removal of the bullet.

McCabe was wounded by a bullet fired through the door of his hotel room after Landsale, in a neighboring room, is said to have complained to the night clerk about a disturbance McCabe was creating and to have threatened that he himself would stop it if the clerk couldn't. Landsale is held by Little Rock police.

The meeting was attended by 70 men and women from various parts of the south, who expressed satisfaction

Seed Loans Available To Fulton Farmers

Federal seed loan funds are now available to Fulton county farmers, Harry Brown, county agricultural agent, announced Thursday on receipt of the official loan application blanks.

Fulton county farmers may obtain loans up to $600 for seed, fertilizer, live stock feed and tractor oil and fuel, due November 30 at 5 per cent interest, Brown said. The loans are made only to those who farmed last year and who are unable to get credit anywhere else. A crop mortgage on the 1931 crop is taken as security.

The county loan committee is composed of J. M. Daniel, of Hapeville, chairman; T. A. Burdett, of Dunwoody; J. H. Gilbert, of Atlanta, and B. P. Suttles, of College Park.

With the work of the past year and extended a vote of confidence to the administration.

CLEMENCY BY KING

PLEASES ALL SPAIN

MADRID, March 19.—(P)—The clemency of King Alfonso in commuting the death sentence of a Jaon rebel evoked national approval today and made the general public more tranquil. Public demonstrations, widespread yesterday, ceased.

LOCAL CAMP CANCELS

DUES OF NEEDY VETS

Members of Lee Roosevelt Camp No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, who are unable to pay their dues because of unemployment, will have their dues cancelled and receive cards showing them to be in good standing for 1931 at an open meeting to be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Red Men's Wigwam on Central avenue. Veterans of Atlanta, Fulton and DeKalb counties are urged to be present by Commander Anderson M. Beck. Refreshments will be served by members of the ladies' auxiliaries, who will also have charge of program arrangements, it was announced.

ALBANY FIRE CHIEF TO ADDRESS CHAMBER

Brosnan To Speak at Fire-Prevention Meeting Today.

D. W. Brosnan, chief of the fire department at Albany, will be guest of honor and principal speaker at a meeting of the fire prevention committee of the Chamber of Commerce, to be held at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce building, according to an announcement issued by P. K. Langston, chairman.

Chief Brosnan will speak on methods of fire prevention, a subject on which he is considered an authority. Mr. Langston stated. The meeting is part of a preliminary campaign before the various duties are assigned for committee work, and Chief Brosnan is expected to offer some helpful suggestions for use in the committee's present work.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT DENIED WILL HIGGINS

Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court, Thursday denied a writ of habeas corpus sought by Will Higgins, negro, convicted murderer of a fellow convict. Tillou Von Nunes and Miss Irma Von Nunes, counsel for Higgins, contended that Higgins' sentence for manslaughter should be served before the death penalty is exacted in the murder case. Superseas was granted, pending appeal to the state supreme court on the habeas corpus.

Every person in the community interested in the welfare of the school and community at large is urged to attend.

Points on Oyster Service

BY JESSIE MARIE DEBOTH.

Perhaps oysters do not appeal to you, but if they do, there is still a lot of time to enjoy them before the warm weather. There are so many enticing ways of preparing them, too. Before telling you of these, however, we want to emphasize a few of the important points in oyster service.

First of all, comes the matter of looking the bivalves over carefully. This can be done in only one way, by lifting each oyster with the fingers and handling to remove bits of shell. It is a clumsy job but essential for comfortable and safe eating. Washing was formerly considered necessary but modern methods of packing and shipping make this unnecessary now.

THIS DOCTOR FREED RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

A well-known doctor practically devoted a lifetime to helping thousands of rheumatic sufferers regain freedom from their dreadful affliction. He left a blessing to mankind—a wonderful discovery which is now known as Prescription C-2223. This famous prescription neutralizes toxic acids in the joints and drives out poisonous waste matter from the system—two important causes of rheumatic pain. All prescription drug stores have on hand generous size bottles of C-2223 and sell it on an absolute money-back guarantee.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL TERMITES WRECK YOUR PROPERTY

It's the time of year when Termites or FLYING ANTS begin their destructive crusade upon the foundations and portions of wooden structure of buildings and homes. Sometimes you do not even see the white or flying ants that warn you of approaching danger. Unless you have an expert examine your property and show you what is happening, you may not know of the damage until it is too late. Don't wait. It costs nothing for an inspection by our experts.

Do you like ORANGE-PEKOE TEA?

If you do it is important that you know these facts.

ORANGE-PEKOE is not a kind nor a flavor of tea. It is a trade name given to a size of leaf resulting from the sifting process which tea leaves undergo during manufacture.

Orange-Pekoes are as various as thumbprints. Quality depends on whether the leaves were grown, picked and manufactured under favorable conditions and what country they came from.

Therefore, when you buy Orange-Pekoe tea, it is important that you know you are getting India Orange-Pekoe. Ask your grocer for India Orange-Pekoe. And to be doubly sure you are getting genuine India Tea, look for the Map of India trade mark (shown above) on the package of tea you buy.

The brands of tea listed below contain India Tea. And they cost you no more than the price you pay for ordinary tea.

Mayor Delays Signing Police Reinstatement

Mayor James L. Key Thursday withheld action on a councilman's ordinance reinstating the salary of a police captain and a lieutenant, pending a conference with Chief of Police James L. Beavers this morning.

Council passed the ordinance establishing the salaries after demonstration of Captain Grover C. Fain and his reinstatement within a 48-hour period last week-end.

All other measures which came up to the mayor from council were approved and filed with City Clerk J. Henson Tatum.

minus the shells. It won't be quite so perfect but it can be mighty good. Shallow, fire-proof dishes act as substitute for shells. They must be well buttered, then large oysters are cuddled together, drenched with melted butter, seasoned with salt and pepper and a dash of lemon juice. Strong heat in or beneath the gas oven soon cooks the oysters to a turn. Have buttered toast ready and hot dishes handy and waste no time in garnishing. Mince the buttered toast, pepper, onion tops or celery may add variety to the dish, but scald the peppers before adding them. Cut onion and celery exceedingly fine and saute a few minutes in butter to insure sufficient tenderness. Tabasco, Worcester, pepper sauce and catsup are favorable additions for lusty eaters. A little hot cream softens the final flavor and moistens the crisp toast. Beware of soggy toast. It is the sad foundation of many a culinary disappointment.

How about an oyster omelet? Have you tried its seductive creaminess? A simple omelet has scalded oysters laid on the soft mixture just before folding. Another envelops the oysters in a creamy sauce which fills and surrounds the delicate omelet. The oysters may be sauteed quickly, cut into pieces and mixed through the eggs while cooking. There are other agreeable methods which combine eggs and oysters, such as timbales and souffles.

Croquettes or cutlets call for scalded oysters, drained and cooled. They are then cut in pieces and blended with a thick sauce of oyster liquid and rich milk, well seasoned with lemon juice and paprika to finish. Oysters and chicken combine admirably in this form with chicken stock and minced parsley in the sauce. Spread the thick mixture on a pie pan and chill thoroughly. Then it can be shaped with a mold or by the hand. If a beautiful one is dropped into a plate of bread crumbs and turned before handling, it will be found much easier to shape uniformly. When fried in deep fat and served promptly, the creamy centers and crisp surface prove luscious enough to justify the time spent upon them. Perfect croquettes are an achievement, so do not be discouraged if your first ones are a flop. Beat the egg just enough to mix and add a tablespoon of water for each egg. If convenient, more salt and pepper may be used, but don't depend on either alone. Have egg mixture in a large pie pan and bread crumbs in another. Tilt the former with something beneath one side so the liquid covers only one-half of the pan. Use a small spatula to handle the croquettes. After shaping each one with a coating of crumbs, place in the beaten egg. Turn it over gently to coat completely, as any uncovered spot may burst or soak up fat in frying. Push to the upper part of the pan to drain while cooking the next one. Then lift carefully with the spatula to give the final coating of crumbs.

Have plenty of bread crumbs (never cracker crumbs for deep frying) and season them well for fried oysters or fish. When all are done, arrange on a pan or board so that the oysters keep in a cool place until needed. They are really better done in advance than at the last moment. This is of course, a great advantage to the cook, for it takes time to make uniformly-shaped croquettes.

You will like broiled oysters with celery sauce. For this we select large oysters, coat them with crumbs enriched with melted butter and cook them on a fish sheet or cookie pan under the gas flame. When the edges curl, in about five minutes, we transfer them to a hot platter and pour a celery sauce, savory with green pepper and onion juice, around, not over, them. Scalded celery and green pepper also enrich the sauce for creamed oysters.

For an especial treat, try oysters Marguerite. A quart of scalded oysters is added to a rich sauce of oyster liquid, chicken stock and cream. This is seasoned with salt, paprika, lemon juice and catsup and when the whole is bubbling, a cup of sliced fresh, cooked shrimp is added. This is served in patty shells or hollowed out rolls buttered and crisped in the oven. Oysters blend obligingly with crab meat and chopped hard-cooked eggs. Lemon juice, cayenne and sherry season suitably and they may be deviled with buttered crumbs and cream or enriched with a thick white sauce. Place in rarefines, scalded green peppers or hollowed tomatoes, sprinkle with coarse crumbs and brown in a hot oven. Place a lemon wedge on each plate.

BOOKLET ON SALADS IS PROVING POPULAR

Numerous requests have been received by the Wesson Oil and Snow-drift people for Mary B. Murray's new booklet on appetizing salad dressings, which were distributed at The Atlanta Constitution's cooking school, indicating that there were many who attended the school. Requests for it should be sent to J. D. Camp, Southern Cotton Oil Trading Company, 640 East Ponce de Leon Avenue, Decatur, Ga.

Miss Murray's booklet tells what dressings go best with what salads and how to serve salads according to the customs and fashions of today.

Trial of Aubrey Sikes, one of a group of white men charged with the murder of Dennis Hubert, negro sophomore at Morehouse College, began Thursday before Judge Blanton Fortson, of Athens, in Fulton superior court. It is expected that the

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 980 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonard's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and Jacobs' Pharmacy invites every Pile sufferer to try a bottle of HEM-ROID and guarantee to refund the purchase price if they do not get Piles in any form—(adv.)

case will reach the jury this afternoon. Eye-witnesses told of the shooting on the Croftman school playground, but neither of the two eye-witnesses produced Thursday identified Sikes as the man who fired the shot. T. L. Martin, who, the state contends, fired the shot, has been convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to serve 12 to 15 years. Sikes testified at Martin's trial that he, Sikes, shot Hubert.

ROY LE CRAW SPEAKS AT AD CLUB MEETING

Effective advertising and selling were discussed by Roy LeCraw as the feature of the program for the Ad Club luncheon Thursday at the Ansley hotel. Mr. LeCraw told of the different types of people and said that it was necessary to approach each by a different method, suggesting that advertising be written to appeal to different types on different days. Forest Fires Rage.

MARION, N. C. March 19.—(AP)—Forest fires, burning in two separate districts of McDowell county, today raged unabated under cloudless skies. Most homes in the fire area were saved by backfiring. The flames are traveling slowly on a four-mile front.

MISSING GIRLS FOUND IN CANYON

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 19.—(AP)—Eugenia Karna and Betty Brooks, two 10-year-old Grant school girls, whose parents reported they had mysteriously vanished after being seen to enter a canyon this morning, were found by police shortly before noon in the home of a woman fronting the canyon.

POSTOFFICE, STORE BURNED BY BANDITS

LURAY, Tenn., March 19.—(AP)—The postoffice and a grocery store were destroyed by fire here today. Postmaster S. L. McHancey, owner of the postoffice building, said robbers looted and fired both buildings. Loss from fire was estimated at $7,500. The fire prevented an immediate estimate of the loot.

Price of Foodstuffs Declining in Atlanta
Retail price of foodstuffs are declining steadily in Atlanta. It was shown in statistics compiled by the bureau of labor statistics in Washington.
Residents are now paying prices for food that exceed the pre-war prices of 1913 by only 30 per cent. It was stated. Not only are these prices less than a third higher than 17 years ago but on January 15, 1913, the prices of foodstuffs were 15 per cent higher than on January 15, 1931. From December 15, 1930, to January 15, 1931, prices had declined 4.9 per cent, it was shown.

BRITISH BY-ELECTION IS HELP TO BALDWIN

Lady Diana Manners' Husband Defeats Sir Ernest Pether.

LONDON, March 19.—(AP)—A. Duff Cooper, Lady Diana Manners' husband, tonight won a by-election in the St. George's division of Mayfair, polling 17,242 votes against 11,532 for Sir Ernest Pether, running as an independent conservative.

It was a victory for Stanley Baldwin, whose leadership of the conservative party had been challenged by the Beaverbrook and Rothermere press, supporting Sir Ernest.

CONFESSED ROBBER POINTS OUT VICTIM

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—The tables on "show-ups" were turned today when Joseph McCann, 31-year-old ex-convict, picked out his holdup victim from an improvised "lineup" in the district attorney's office.

McCann confessed he was one of the robbers who seized $800,000 in worthless currency halves from postal workers at Washington February 12. To prove his confession he picked out a railway mail clerk he had seized with an iron pipe.

Authorities suspected he preferred federal prosecution to the serious New York charge upon which he was arrested—possession of four guns.

Lawyer Punches Nose Of Man He Freed

NEW YORK, March 19.—(UP)—Moe Cohen was freed of a robbery charge today, only to receive a hearty punch in the jaw from his lawyer as he left the courtroom.

"I promised your mother I'd give you that," explained the lawyer, David L. Mabin. "You turned your back on her when she visited you in jail. Maybe you'll learn a lesson."

Cohen rubbed his jaw, turned and went home.

Judge Franklin Taylor was informed of the punch, delivered just outside the courtroom doors. He said it had been proved Cohen withdrew from the robbery plot in question, and that there was nothing to do but dismiss the charge.

RACHMANINOFF BAN ASKED IN MOSCOW

MOSCOW, March 19.—(UP)—A boycott of the works of Sergei Rachmaninoff, Russian composer, which seeks to prevent his compositions from being played or printed in the Soviet Union was begun by the Moscow and Leningrad conservatives today.

Rachmaninoff's compositions were termed "reactionary and particularly dangerous to conditions in the acute class struggle on the musical front."

The composer was born at Novgorod, Russia, in 1873. He studied at the conservatories which now seek to boycott his compositions. He resides in New York at present.

McSwain Better.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—The condition of Representative McSwain, of South Carolina, who yesterday suffered a heart attack, today was reported at his office to be improved.

MURDER CONFESSION IS MADE IN COURT

Realtor's Former Employee Admits Killing Him in Apartment.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—Mario Moramarco strode into a hearing room in the Bar Association building today and explained why Cornelius Kahlen, 75, wealthy real estate operator and a party to the proceedings then in progress, was not present.

"Mr. Kahlen will not be here today," he said. "I have murdered him."

In his hands Moramarco held a screw-driver. He raised it aloft. "Here is what I did it with," he said.

Police found the body in Kahlen's expensively furnished up-town apartment. He had been stabbed "possibly 20 or 30 times," Medical Examiner Thomas A. Gonzales said.

Moramarco, a former employee of Kahlen, was accused of intimacies with the real estate man's elderly wife in separation proceedings, instituted more than a year ago.

The case in progress involved the dowry rights of Mrs. Kahlen to certain real estate.

The attorneys and spectators present, astounded by the dramatic confession of Moramarco, for a few minutes were speechless. Finally one of the lawyers slipped out and telephoned police. Moramarco submitted to arrest peacefully.

Police said Kahlen was worth about $500,000.

Detectives, after questioning Moramarco several hours, announced he told them he killed Kahlen because he was convinced that was the only way to protect the financial interests of Mrs. Kahlen.

CLOSEDBANKHEADS ON TRIAL MARCH 30

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—The trial of Bernard K. Marcus, president of the Bank of United States; Saul Singer, executive vice president; Herbert Singer, his son; Isidor J. Kresel, and Henry W. Pollack, directors, was set today for March 30 by Judge George L. Donnellan in general sessions.

Judge Donnellan plans to select a special panel of 200 talesmen tomorrow, from which the trial jury will be chosen.

The indictment against the five men alleges that they misappropriated the funds of the bank by lending $2,000,518.45 to the Municipal Fund Deposit Company, subsidiary of the bank.

JEAN JULES VERNE ARRIVES IN U. S.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—Jean Jules Verne arrived in New York today on the French liner Lafayette to play a ceremonial part in an outlandish adventure as his grandfather, Jules Verne, ever imagined.

On Tuesday he will break a bottle over the prow of a submarine in Brooklyn navy yard and call the craft "Nautilus," the name of the diving vessel in his grandfather's "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

The submarine will be used by Sir Hubert Wilkins in his projected under-ice journey across the top of the world.

The under-sea vessel was to have met the Lafayette today but the bad weather forced her master, Sloan Dannenbower, to put in at Claymont, Del., last night on his way up from Camden.

Attractive Models for Children's Fashion Show To Be at Davison-Paxon's Saturday

Officials of Davison-Paxon Co. Thursday issued an invitation to all Atlanta mothers to attend the Saturday event. The fashion show will be staged in a special, colorful Easter setting, featuring colossal cut-out figures of Easter rabbits, chicks, and spring flowers.

Interesting Easter candy souvenirs will be given to all children attending.

Gothic Chapel at St. Joseph's Is Dedicated by Bishop Keyes

The new Gothic chapel at St. Joseph's infirmary was dedicated by Bishop Michael Keyes, of Savannah, Thursday morning, the ceremonies having been reserved for March 19, St. Joseph's Day, in commemoration of the patron saint of the hospital. The chapel is located in the right wing, on the first floor of the hospital building and fronts on Courtland street.

The floors of the chapel, which seats 75 persons, are of green and cream terrazzo marble, the walls being paneled in imitation Travertine marble and the ceiling frescoed in a colorful design. The marble altar was taken from the former chapel.

Adorning the sanctuary, two handsome mural paintings represent Fra Angelico's "Angels." They are the work of Albino Menaboni and were donated by J. J. Haverly. The 14 "Stations of the Cross" hung at regular intervals along the walls were presented by Mrs. J. Carroll Payne.

In memory of her mother, Mrs. Rhoda Hill, a statue of the "Blessed Mother" was donated by Hughes Spalding and one of "St. Joseph" was the gift of Clarence Haverly.

A feature of the dedication was a musical program presented under the direction of Professor Vincent Hurley, organist of the Sacred Heart church. The chapel was designed by Richard Alger, architect, and Barge & Thompson were builders.

Stained glass memorial windows which the design of the chapel calls for are now being made by artists in Munich, Germany, having been given as tributes by Atlantans.

One of the windows, "Immaculate Conception," is in memory of Mrs. J. J. Spalding, given by her husband, J. J. Spalding; "Sacred Heart of Jesus," was donated by the Marist fathers; J. Carroll Payne gave "Christ Healing the Sick," in memory of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Payne; "Christ Blessing Little Children," given in memory of Charles I. Ryan, was the gift of his sister, Miss Ida Ryan; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thompson gave the "Holy Family," in memory of their mothers; Mrs. James L. Dickey was the donor of "Christ Teaching in the Temple," in memory of her mother, Mrs. Lula Cox McWhorter; the "Rose Window," to be placed directly above the door to the Courtland street entrance, was the gift of the alumnae of St. Joseph's infirmary; Misses Lucy Mae, Mary Owen and Thelma McCorkle gave a window on one side of the altar in memory of their mother, and the one on the other side of the altar was presented by the Sisters of Mercy.

POLICE OPEN DRIVE ON FIXTURE THIEVES

A police campaign against vagrants and sneak thieves who concentrate on vacant houses, stealing plumbing fixtures and committing other depredations was ordered Thursday by Chief James L. Beavers following receipt of a letter from Chairman Alvin Richards of the police committee of council who cited complaints of a property owner.

Grand Jury Probes Slaying of Driver

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 19.—(AP)—Under direct charge from Judge Garland B. Midyette, the New Hanover county grand jury today began an investigation into the fatal shooting of a mail truck driver here early Sunday by officers who were seeking a liquor runner.

The driver, Lupo Roberts, 29, was halted by a barricade. He shot and killed W. P. Starling, a deputy, before he fell mortally wounded.

"The mere statement by some one to an officer," Judge Midyette told the jury, "that some one is coming down the road with a load of liquor is not sufficient evidence on which to base an attempt to arrest without a warrant."

Four deputies who fired on Roberts were held by a coroner's jury to have been acting in discharge of their duty.

VENICE WELCOMES CHARLIE CHAPLIN

VENICE, Italy, March 19.—(AP)—Down the Grand canal of Venice came Charlie Chaplin this afternoon in a triumphal procession reminiscent of the Pied Piper of Hamelin.

Big boats, little boats, motor boats, row boats, steam boats, ferry boats and gondolas tagged along behind his motor launch, from which Charlie bowed and waved to throngs which filled the windows of famous old palaces along the banks.

Past the iron bridge, the Rialto and St. Mark's square rode the film comedian and his entourage while police boats churned about trying to keep Charlie's impetuous following from swamping him. At the Daniels hotel he disembarked and was ushered to the choicest suite.

Police had their troubles unraveling the tangle of navigation around the front of the hotel so that traffic could be resumed. Even after the boats were dispersed thousands of persons tarried cheering around the hotel until the star appeared at the window and bowed and waved to them.

AUTOMOTIVE TOPS TRADE IN ATHENS

Total Retail Business in 1930 Exceeds $9,000,000, Report Shows.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—The bureau of the census Thursday announced that retail business at Athens, Ga., in excess of $9,000,000 is shown in returns from the 1930 distribution census now being compiled. The 1930 population of Athens was 18,192.

The bureau reports 256 retail stores in Athens with an annual business of $9,067,355, a yearly pay roll of $920,075 and the full-time employment of 987 men and women. The reported number of employees does not include those working part time, although the pay roll of part-time employees is included in salaries and wages.

Merchandise in the Athens retail stores for sale at the close of 1929 shows a cost value of $1,433,250. The 256 stores includes 216 single-store independents, 9 units of two-store multiples and one unit of three-store multiples.

Sales of the two types of chain organizations doing business in Athens aggregate $1,501,263 or 16 per cent of the total retail business, while sales of the single-store independents amounted to $7,566,092 or 84 per cent. These figures cover the year 1929 but were not compiled until 1930.

The automotive group takes the lead in the grouping of Athens business. The food group was second and the general merchandise group third, in order of sales.

The automotive group with 36 establishments does a business of $2,404,225 or 27 per cent of the total retail business.

Food stores total 107 and reported sales of $2,209,895 or 23 per cent of the total retail business.

The general merchandise group, which includes department stores, dry goods stores, general stores and variety, 5-and-10 and smaller stores, reported sales of $1,765,585 in 1929, employing the full-time services of 232 men and women and paying $200,592 annually in salaries and wages.

Athens' 23 eating places employ 97 full-time people and do an annual business of $342,033, exclusive of meals served in dining rooms operated by hotels and boarding houses and lunches served in drug stores.

The lumber and building group with eight stores and yards, reported 34 full-time employees and a total retail business in 1929 of $307,306.

Georgia Students Seek New Alma Mater Song
ATHENS, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—A new alma mater song by the University of Georgia.

An alumni society committee, headed by Dr. Frank K. Boland, today announced plans for a contest, test that will be conducted until January 1, 1932, in an effort to select a suitable new song for the institution.

The committee objects to the present alma mater song of the university, written by James B. Wright, Jr., '13, on the grounds that its old English tune was used by Cornell before the University of Georgia adopted it and that it is in too general use.

Undergraduates and alumni of the University of Georgia, alumni residents of Georgia, and natives of Georgia, may submit songs to the committee in the contest, it was announced.

SAVANNAH WOMEN INJURED IN WRECK

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Jabez Jones, wife of a prominent Savannah physician, and Mrs. W. H. Wade, also well known in Savannah, received serious injuries in an automobile collision Thursday.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the main highway and a side street, where the cars collided.

Two young men in the automobile were taken to Brunswick. They were said to be hurt badly.

ADMITTED SLAYER IS HELD ON COAST
LOS ANGELES, March 19.—(AP)—Mumbling to himself, a man who said his name was George Pierce, 32, the son of a wealthy and well known family in Washington and Philadelphia, surrendered to a policeman here yesterday and allegedly confessed to a murder in Washington in 1926.

Pierce first gave his name as Harry Jones, a salesman.

Detective Lieutenant Frank Condit said Pierce told him he had visited a night club in Washington in 1926, and upon leaving entered an umbrella repair shop operated by Emma Kirk, 70.

"My mind snapped," he said, "I don't know what happened. All I remember is that I suddenly reached out and clamped my hands on her throat and choked the life out of her. I'm tired and want to rest. They should kill me, I suppose. They should. At least I can rest then."

Police, communicating with Washington authorities, were informed such a murder had occurred and never had been solved.

Pierce, Condit said, told him he was at that time sales manager for the United Cigar Company. He said his family, including his wife and 10-month-old baby, was in San Francisco on vacation.

BOASTS OF SLAYER REVEALED AT TRIAL
ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., March 19.—(AP)—An alleged boast by Caleb Gilden, Jr., that he had killed three children, was repeated by a witness today in his trial for murder.

"I've done away with those Powell children," the witness, Zerk Chambers, quoted Gilden as telling him.

The Powell children—Nellie, 13; Frank, 7; and Oscar, 5—were found in a swamp last June. A coroner's jury decided they had drowned accidentally.

Reports circulated that Gilden, a 25-year-old truck driver, had related while intoxicated that he killed the children led to further investigation and his indictment.

The trial began yesterday and the jury was completed today.

Lucy Stanton DIES IN ATHENS

Noted Artist, Native of Atlanta, Succumbs to Pneumonia Attack.

ATHENS, Ga., March 19.—Miss Lucy Stanton, whose art work has long attracted interest in this country and abroad, died at a local hospital this morning at 2 o'clock from double pneumonia. She contracted virulent influenza a few days ago and within a few hours had become so ill that removal to a hospital was advised. Her condition was so serious, however, that at the time members of her family felt that she could not recover.

The funeral services will be conducted from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forbes Friday morning at 11 o'clock by Dr. J. C. Wilkinson, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Dr. E. L. Hill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, interment will be in Ocean cemetery.

The pallbearers will be Harry Hodgson, E. R. Hodgson, Dr. L. L. Hendon, Dr. J. M. Rucker, Dr. C. Rucker, Dr. R. M. Goss, Duncan Burnett, Dan Magill, M. H. Bryan, Walter E. Hodgson, Morton S. Hodgson, of Athens, and Julian Harris and Rawson B. Collier, of Atlanta.

Miss Stanton was a native of Atlanta, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Stanton, pioneer citizens of that city. She was born May 22, 1876. Since 1908 she had made her home in Athens, built Athens a small studio near the home of her sister, Mrs. Walter T. Forbes, Sr., several years ago. In recent years she had spent the winter months in Athens and the summer in her home, Harbor View, at Nantucket, Mass.

It was at the Athens studio that she produced some of the art which has received favorable recognition by the critics both in this country and abroad. She was fond of young people and influenced them much in the appreciation of the beautiful in nature and life.

Attended LaGrange College. She received her early education at Cox College in LaGrange, after which she studied art in various schools abroad and in the United States. She possessed an alert and fresh mind, was tolerant and sympathetic to human weaknesses, and was a student of the past enabled her to appreciate and evaluate correctly the present. It was such an understanding and balanced judgment that she brought to the study of social movements, as well as the artistic. It was at her studio that the first meeting in the inter-arts society, which was held in Athens, because she early felt the need of the interest of women in the political life of the nation, because of its connection with progress in their own and their children's welfare. About her also were gathered, from time to time, both young and older persons, attracted by her personality, her courage and zest for life, and they received by such contact an enrichment of their own life.

Her studies were interrupted by peace and the Georgia Peace Society had its inception at her home a few years ago. She was a member of the First Baptist church.

Noteworthy Portraits. Only recently one of the most noteworthy portraits, a miniature of the late Joel Chandler Harris, famed creator of the "Uncle Remus" stories, was loaned to Emory University for exhibition in the noted Harris collection in the Joel Chandler Harris room in the university library.

The picture, executed on ivory, has been exhibited in many prominent exhibitions and won the Medal of Honor of the Pennsylvania Society of Miniature Portrait Painters, in 1917. It has been shown in the Salon and Society of the National Academy of Art, the Royal Society, London; the Liverpool Gallery and the Panama Exposition, San Francisco.

Miss Stanton is the only Athens woman listed in the 1930 edition of Who's Who in America.

Her oil portrait of General Howell Cobb now hangs in the Congressional Hall at Washington and she is represented in the Concord, Mass., Art Association by an oil painting of Charles M. Snelling, and a painting entitled, "Aunt Liza." Her painting, "The Ingrate," which was now in the Lincoln Museum, Milton, Mass., took the medal of honor at the exhibition of the Pennsylvania Society of Miniature Portrait Painters in 1917.

Miss Stanton also won first prize at the Atlanta Art Association exhibition in 1917. She won the medal of honor given by the Concord Art Association in 1923, and received honorable mention from the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors in 1925.

She has exhibited her portraits at the Salon in Paris, and in the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts. Her self-portrait, a miniature, was bought by the Pennsylvania Society of Miniature Portrait Painters in 1929. It is now in the Lincoln Museum, Philadelphia.

Miss Stanton studied art at the Ecole Colarossi, at the Grande Chaumiere, and with Lucien Simon, Emil Blanche and M. Koopman. She studied water colors with E. W. Wesley, Mass., and the Choate School of Boston, and history of art at Milton Academy.

She was a member of the American Society of Miniature Painters, National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, Boston Guild Artists, Copy Art Society, Concord Art Association and the Washington Water Color Club.

Miss Stanton is survived by her sister, Mrs. Forbes, of Athens; a half sister, Mrs. Malores Henry, Los Angeles; two half brothers, Frank Stanton, Seattle, Wash., and William Levis Stanton, of Pennsylvania, now with an engineering expedition in Russia.

She is also survived by the following nieces and nephews: Misses Frances and Lillian Forbes, Athens; W. T. Forbes, Jr., Atlanta, and Stanton Forbes, Atlanta.

Grand Jury Recommends Crawford-Bibb Merger
MACON, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—The Crawford county grand jury in its presentments late Thursday recommended the merger of that county with Bibb county. Members of the grand jury brought a copy of the presentments to this city and made the announcement.

This is in line with a statewide movement to reduce the number of counties in the state.

A similar proposal to merge Fulton and Campbell counties has received approval from the voters of Campbell. Fulton voters have yet to decide the issue.

The same procedure would be necessary in the case of Bibb and Crawford.

Four Atlantans Win Piano Contests at Georgia Music Convention

From left to right are Charles Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Thompson; Miss Nell Thurman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Thurman; Billy Stakely, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Stakely; and Miss Anne Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Morris, all of Atlanta.

GAINEVILLE, Ga., March 19.—Four Atlantans won the state piano contests here Thursday at the second biennial convention of the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs. They are Charles Thompson, Nell Thurman, Billy Stakely and Anne Morris. Miss Morris won the piano solo against 20 contestants, representing practically every section of the state.

The feature of Thursday's program was the recital given by the celebrated Polish artist, Franciszek Zachara, professor of piano at Brenau.

In the receiving line were Mrs. J. H. Pearce, Sr., Mrs. E. B. Michaelis, Mrs. Corinne Pearce Turpin, Mrs. John Weygandt, Mrs. Franciszek Zachara, Miss Eliza Holmes, Miss Eva Pearce, Miss Ella De Long Winfield, Miss Cecilia Branham, Miss Elizabeth Browning, Mrs. Mrs. Clyde Brown, Mrs. Mabelle S. Wall and Mrs. Frank Turpin.

Thursday afternoon's social event was the tea given in the Brenau parlors, with Mrs. H. J. Pearce as hostess, assisted by the Brenau Conservatory faculty. Nearly 200 guests of the convention called during the afternoon.

Those assisting Mrs. Pearce were Mrs. E. B. Michaelis, Mrs. Corinne Pearce Turpin, Mrs. John Weygandt, Mrs. Franciszek Zachara and Miss Eliza Holmes.

Following the tea at Brenau a sight-seeing tour and inspection at Riverside Gaineville was enjoyed by the guests.

Contests in piano solos Class D, piano ensembles and in classical dancing will feature the morning and afternoon sessions Friday, with a tea at the home of Mrs. Sidney O. Smith as the afternoon social event. Mrs. Smith will be assisted by her young daughters, Misses Charters and Carolyn Smith, and Mrs. S. R. Christie, of Decatur, will be the honor guest.

The business session will be held in the morning. The visitors then will be entertained at lunch and golf in the afternoon on the Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce's own course. The Macon organization also will entertain the directors at dinner and a dance Saturday evening.

The meeting will bring to Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce men from throughout the state. Jack L. Rev, of Columbus, is president of the state organization.

Former Sheriff Pleads Guilty
MERIDIAN, Miss., March 19.—(AP)—Paul C. Adams, former sheriff of Mobile county, Ala., today pleaded guilty in federal court to charges of conspiracy and embezzlement in connection with the embezzlement of $72,000 from the First National Bank of Laurel, Miss., last year.

He was sentenced to five years in Atlanta penitentiary on the embezzlement charge and two years on the conspiracy charge, to be served concurrently. Sentence was pronounced by Federal Judge Allen Cox, of Baldwin, Miss.

Edward Jackson, former teller of the Laurel bank; his father, John Jackson and Roy Schaffer, who earlier in the week pleaded guilty to charges of embezzlement, conspiracy, aiding and abetting, in connection with the missing $72,000, are awaiting sentence.

Businessmen Study Government Offices
WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—Fifty businessmen today opened a two-day invasion of the commerce department intent on learning how the government gathers facts and their usefulness to private business.

Beginning with Director Stewart, of the census, the industrial marketing conference of the American Management Association, inspected the machinery tabulating the 1930 census and heard a series of lectures on methods of combining the country for information.

The bureau of mines was next visited and then the bureau of standards. Tomorrow the group, drawn from the entire eastern section of the country, will hear from Secretary Lamont.

Old Sore Ten Years Old! Healed
For over 30 years the healing and soothing power of Peterson's Ointment has quickly banished old sores of long standing—has brought instant comfort to folks suffering with piles, itching skin, burns—has eradicated worst pimples, blackheads and eczema in just a few days.

And one 35-cent box of Peterson's Ointment at any drug store proves it—even one application convinces you've at last discovered a wonderful working Ointment which won't fail to give you results you want.

Mrs. Fay Koruchuk, of Chicago, Ill., writes: "I am 24 years old and had a running sore over my ankle for over 10 years. I tried treatments and salves but failed to heal it. Then I got a box of Peterson's Ointment and in 5 days' time it was healing and very shortly the sore disappeared." (adv.)

New Hospital Structure Inspected By Gov. Hardman at Milledgeville

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Governor L. G. Hardman Thursday inspected the new L. M. Jones hospital building at the Milledgeville state hospital which was opened Thursday morning.

The building was completed more than a year ago, but has been unoccupied since that time due to the shortage of funds with which to furnish the building and pay the balance due the contractors. Last week the governor made a loan and gave the hospital $150,000 with instructions that this building be opened at once.

The building was opened this morning without ceremony. The governor was the guest of Dr. R. C. Swint, superintendent, at lunch and was shown through the building.

The hospital continues to labor under a terrific financial strain and the opening of the building was done under as cheap arrangements as possible. All white issues that were in county jails were received into the new building, the sheriffs having been previously notified to bring them here today.

Governor Hardman spent only a few hours at the hospital and then returned to Atlanta. State Auditor Tom Wisdom accompanied the governor.

Presidents' Club To Pay Honor To Judges Sibley and Underwood
The United States circuit court of appeals, and Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of the United States court for the northern district of Georgia, will be honored by the Presidents' Club of Atlanta at a banquet at 7 o'clock tonight in the Baltimore hotel.

In addition to members of the Presidents' Club, friends of the two judges have been invited. It was announced by Colonel Frederick J. Paxon, who chairs the committee, that the banquet will be a subscription affair at $3 a plate, the guest list having been closed Tuesday so that names of so honored might be included in a printed souvenir menu to be distributed among those present.

Eugene R. Black, Sr., and Robert M. Black, Jr., of the Atlanta Bar Association, will act as hosts.

Former Sheriff Pleads Guilty
MERIDIAN, Miss., March 19.—(AP)—Paul C. Adams, former sheriff of Mobile county, Ala., today pleaded guilty in federal court to charges of conspiracy and embezzlement in connection with the embezzlement of $72,000 from the First National Bank of Laurel, Miss., last year.

GAMBLING IS LEGAL IN NEVADA NOW
CARSON CITY, Nev., March 19.—(AP)—Bills legalizing gambling, and providing that divorces may be obtained after six weeks' residence were signed today by Governor F. B. Balzar.

Even before Governor Balzar signed the gambling bill numerous operators in Reno began installing equipment to accommodate several hundred players.

Licensed gambling was closed in Nevada in 1910. Since 1915 gambling at card games has been legal.

Two Get Long Terms For Train Robbery
VALDOSTA, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Two negroes who pleaded guilty to robbing a mail clerk near Thomasville January 28 were under long prison sentences Thursday.

George Deneal was sentenced to 25 years and Washington Davis to 10 years. Deneal admitted shooting and robbing the mail clerk and Davis to robbery.

The mail clerk, M. T. Prather, of Atlanta, was wounded by gunfire.

VANTASSELL NAMED TO FLOYD BOARD
ROME, Ga., March 19.—R. W. Vantassel, mechanical superintendent of the Peppercorn Mills at Lindale, was elected a member of the Floyd board of roads and revenue Tuesday morning.

He succeeded the late John F. Spruill. When notified of election, Mr. Vantassel stated that he would support the policies of J. D. Keever, superintendent of public works.

JUNIOR C. OF C. BOARD TO MEET IN MACON

MACON, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Members of the board of directors of the Georgia State Junior Chamber of Commerce will assemble here Saturday as guests of the Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was announced Thursday by John L. Morris, president of the local organization.

Saturday's conference will be the regular quarterly meeting of the group.

The business session will be held in the morning. The visitors then will be entertained at lunch and golf in the afternoon on the Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce's own course. The Macon organization also will entertain the directors at dinner and a dance Saturday evening.

The meeting will bring to Macon Junior Chamber of Commerce men from throughout the state. Jack L. Rev, of Columbus, is president of the state organization.

Georgia Gray's Body Reaches Augusta
AUGUSTA, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—The body of Lucile Dickens, show girl and vice graft witness known in New York as Georgia Gray, arrived here today, accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. R. E. Doolittle.

Funeral services will be held from a local undertaking establishment tomorrow, with interment in West View cemetery.

SAVANNAH (Ga.), March 19.—(AP)—Arrived: Korschuk, Swed., Antwerp. Sailed: Korschuk, Ger.; President G. Machado, City of Atlanta, Boston via New York; Glen Park, R., Norfolk.

Former Sheriff Pleads Guilty
MERIDIAN, Miss., March 19.—(AP)—Paul C. Adams, former sheriff of Mobile county, Ala., today pleaded guilty in federal court to charges of conspiracy and embezzlement in connection with the embezzlement of $72,000 from the First National Bank of Laurel, Miss., last year.

He was sentenced to five years in Atlanta penitentiary on the embezzlement charge and two years on the conspiracy charge, to be served concurrently. Sentence was pronounced by Federal Judge Allen Cox, of Baldwin, Miss.

Edward Jackson, former teller of the Laurel bank; his father, John Jackson and Roy Schaffer, who earlier in the week pleaded guilty to charges of embezzlement, conspiracy, aiding and abetting, in connection with the missing $72,000, are awaiting sentence.

GAMBLING IS LEGAL IN NEVADA NOW
CARSON CITY, Nev., March 19.—(AP)—Bills legalizing gambling, and providing that divorces may be obtained after six weeks' residence were signed today by Governor F. B. Balzar.

Even before Governor Balzar signed the gambling bill numerous operators in Reno began installing equipment to accommodate several hundred players.

Licensed gambling was closed in Nevada in 1910. Since 1915 gambling at card games has been legal.

Two Get Long Terms For Train Robbery
VALDOSTA, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Two negroes who pleaded guilty to robbing a mail clerk near Thomasville January 28 were under long prison sentences Thursday.

George Deneal was sentenced to 25 years and Washington Davis to 10 years. Deneal admitted shooting and robbing the mail clerk and Davis to robbery.

The mail clerk, M. T. Prather, of Atlanta, was wounded by gunfire.

VANTASSELL NAMED TO FLOYD BOARD
ROME, Ga., March 19.—R. W. Vantassel, mechanical superintendent of the Peppercorn Mills at Lindale, was elected a member of the Floyd board of roads and revenue Tuesday morning.

He succeeded the late John F. Spruill. When notified of election, Mr. Vantassel stated that he would support the policies of J. D. Keever, superintendent of public works.

State Deaths And Funerals
MRS. MATTIE GREEN.
ZEBULON, Ga., March 19.—Mrs. Mattie Green, age 82, died at the home of her son, H. L. Green, in Zebulon, Wednesday night, after a short illness. Mrs. Green, who was one of Zebulon's oldest and best loved residents, was the daughter of Sidney E. Reeves, a pioneer citizen. Her husband, the late Dr. J. J. Green, was among the first to volunteer for the Confederate cause from Pike county and after the war was a leading practicing physician in this section for many years.

Funeral services for Mrs. Green will be held from the residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. G. H. Bailey, of the Methodist church, and Rev. E. R. Brooks, of the Baptist church. Burial will be in the family lot in East View cemetery. Surviving her are four sons, H. L. Green, with whom she made her home at Zebulon; L. J. Green, of Brunswick; R. R. Green, of E. K. Green, of Atlanta, and a sister, Mrs. E. F. Duffee, of Zebulon.

SAVANNAH PLANS FARM CONFERENCE

Dr. Andrew M. Soule To Be Chief Speaker at Meeting March 31.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 19.—The Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber, with the anticipated cooperation of all the civic luncheon clubs, will sponsor a large gathering of farmers, bankers and others interested in agriculture on March 31.

Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, at Athens, will give a talk on the farming situation, its effects on the general business conditions of the state, and how best to meet the difficulties and problems of this situation. This was announced last night by Thomas M. Haynes, president of local body, following a conference with E. George Butler, past president in charge of associate activities; Grant Dean, county agent, and other representatives of the college.

This meeting is part of a statewide series of talks by Dr. Soule, and invitations will be sent out not only to all the farmers in the Savannah zone, but to all the associate membership of the Chamber of Commerce, the farm leaders in the counties, county agents; bankers and business men.

ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL.

Georgians must set their sights and gird their loins for the coming drive through the present unfortunate confusion of state affairs to solid grounds and solvency.

The extra session of the legislature, ready and willing to relieve our institutional emergencies, has fallen upon a stalemate with the governor on the only solution immediately available—the discount of the rentals of the state's railroad.

This is no reason for a despairing view of the future.

The impasse only means that after we have suffered for more than a year the distress and starvation of our most vital institutions because of legislative and administrative mistakes and extravagance in recent years, we must set our teeth hard and bear with the condition for another few months until the new governor and a supporting legislature come into action.

There is full reason to believe that before August the state railroad rentals will have been discounted and the cash distributed to the relief of our educational, humane and eleemosynary institutions.

The highway funds will have been safeguarded and defensive measures against future fiscal deficits enacted.

The listed ship of state will be righted, her engines reconditioned and her crew adjusted to economic efficiency.

Those are the paramount tasks to which the governor and the incoming legislature must devote themselves promptly and with unselfish understanding.

The people of the state have at last reached a grim and utter impasse with the small-bore personal politics that has afflicted them for many years. They now demand clean, sensible and conservative action to redeem the state's honor and they will be satisfied with nothing less. It will be surely fatal to any man's political future in Georgia who leads any factional filibustering in the next general assembly against vital redemptive measures.

A sanely constructed and balanced program of departmental reorganizations will cut out a lot of dead wood in the administration, producing economies and efficiency.

The needs of the educational system should be met and the state's humane institutions adequately and safely financed.

No proposal to cut those appropriations, justly calculated and allocated, should be tolerated.

They rather need expansion than any contraction, and this can be easily done with the state's assured income.

next three months in carefully studying the problems they must meet and come to the session informed and prepared to dispose of them with justice, patriotism and unstinted devotion to the public welfare.

Georgia will pay her debts. Georgia will educate her children. Georgia will humanely care for her helpless dependents. Georgia will establish her credit beyond question.

So the state faces the early future with calm spirit and perfect confidence.

DR. THOMAS P. HINMAN.

Our citizens will deplore most universally the passing from life yesterday, so unexpectedly, of Dr. Thomas P. Hinman. He was an Atlantian from his early childhood, educated in our schools and professionally trained by the Southern Dental College, with which he long held professional relations and for the growth and high standing of which he was largely responsible.

Dr. Hinman was not only the leader of his profession in this city and state, but was a recognized authority on oral surgery throughout the world. He was scientific and adept, and his position in his art was unquestioned. He took an active interest in civic matters and freely gave time and talents to the progressive movements of the city and state.

In addition to holding the highest offices in local organizations, Dr. Hinman was a past president of the American Dental Association and a founder and fellow of the American College of Dentists, and won acclaim as a pioneer in the use of the X-ray in his profession.

A man of personal charm, of humane principles and large public spirit, he filled a foremost position in the community and will be missed sorrowfully by all who had social and public contacts with him.

The Constitution makes itself the medium of expressing to his surviving family the deep sadness of his host of personal friends and fellow citizens.

HOW THE SOUTH WILL ACT.
Why should the politicians of both parties and so many in the press of the country be engaged with speculations as to what the south will do politically next year? They ought to know well enough that a square-toed democrat on a heart-oak democratic platform will almost surely get the electoral votes of the solid south.

Why not? In seventy years of the life and power of the republican party the south has received no substantial solicitation or encouragement from that party to find advantage in supporting it. Certainly, the south has received no justice from the legislation or administration of that party that could be denied to it. It is as absolute a fact as any in nature, science, or politics that the republican party is no friend of the southern people.

Without discussing now and here why six southern states voted for Hoover in 1928 all informed persons know that it was not to endorse or to join sentiments with the republican party.

And what have they gotten in return for their Hoover votes? Not even what they hoped to get—a better enforcement of the prohibition laws! Al Smith, at his worst, could not have made a lower prohibition enforcement record than has been made under this administration. The disappointment to the southern Hoovers of 1928 is the bitterest measure southern men and women have ever had to swallow.

So the fact stands out that another Hoover campaign by the republican party will run into the most solid democratic wall the south has opposed to that party in many years.

No one would have guessed that 75 per cent of the World War veterans were in distress for loans.

People in the drouth region can be depended upon to vote for the country to go wet.

Negro Congressmen DePriest says he will hold the "balance of power" in the next congress. He probably means the balance that the white congressmen don't want and use.

Dr. Klein says the "bottom of the depression is passed." Does he mean that we have broken through the bottom? That would be something else again!

A small but still insistent voice Repeats my love for Alice Joyce.

Looks now like republicans and democrats will be willing to have Hoover renominated and repeat the Taft record.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Witches and Quacks.

The Belgrade ministry of health has ordered a drive against witches and quacks. The old lady, Anouka De Pishonia, from near the Rumanian frontier, who has just been executed, is a typical witch. She is of the type of small stature, prodigious with black clothes and a black kerchief the proper outline; is constantly bent over, her hand clasped in front of her and has a sharp nose insolently pointing from the shadow of her kerchief, and reinforced behind by two bird-like black eyes gleaming from proper cavernous sockets.

Her specialty was the dispensing of suns running into thousands of dollars of "magical" remedies for cleansing men of ill-temper and a tendency to drink or play cards. Unfortunately, however, the police have discovered that her holy water contained arsenic. Her patients did stop playing cards and drink, because after a few weeks they always died.

A series of sensational murder trials promises to thrill the local public. Even in the capital town, Belgrade, witchcraft is very common. Although there is roughly one witch to every 300 inhabitants, it is still far too common for the simpler people to go to an old woman, often a gypsy, who knows "how to say something."

Unmethodical French.

When Marshal Franchet d'Esperey was in command of the Allied troops in Salonica, he came to be known among the British as "Desperate Frank." The reason was his peculiar lack of method for "thinking on his feet." For conducting operations without any general plan made in advance, yet with uniform success, many famous French soldiers have been like him. "One day, French fighting, and then one sees," used to be a characteristic expression from Marshal Franchet.

This French trait in things military—supposed to be a national trait—is revealed now by a story from England of a conversation at a game of golf there in which Herr Zeigler, a German businessman from Cologne, took part. Herr Zeigler served in the front line throughout the war. "Which did you dislike fighting against the more," a British player in the game ventured to ask him, "the French or the British?"

"The French," he replied, without hesitation. "The English took their breakfast regularly," Herr Zeigler explained, "and at tea-time there was peace. But you never saw the French with no system?"

Come live with me and be my Love, And we will all the pleasures prove That oil and motors, tools and steels, Or copper or utility yields.

And we will sit upon the chairs, And see the brokers sell their shares On narrow margins, to whose falls Contented bears roar madrigals.

And I will make thee charts of Byers And a thousand other flyers: With graphs of Jersey and of Nickel Thy fancy I will strive to tickle.

A plot laid by the cleverest pool So often trusting lambs may fool; But if we stick to lots of stocks and bonds, We shan't lose too many iron men.

A tape of flowing Can and "Jump" Tells where a boy and where a girl, And if these pleasures may be move, Come live with me and be my Love.

The margin clerks shall dance and sing For thy delight each May morning: If these delights thy mind may move, Then live with me and be my Love.

All those stories in yesterday's papers about Mr. Theodore A. Metz, who wrote "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" were interesting. But it seemed to us that the reporters who worked on the stories were either too stupid to remember or too incurious to ask questions. Did Mr. Metz write the words or the music? He wrote the music. The words were written by Haydn and who now are the publishers of the song, Willis Woodward & Co. And where now is Miss Josephine Sabel, whom, in what was considered a distinctly shrewd move, we heard sing it at the Olympic theater, Chicago, in 1896?

Interesting Data Relating to Some Current Legislation on Taxation.

The department of commerce reports that the production of "near-beers" shows a steady decline during the past decade.

The department is not out of the woods yet. It is not out of the woods yet. It is not out of the woods yet.

Back to the Old Cob Pipe. Many older smokers who slowly succumbed to the lure of the five-cent cigar and the "cotton-rolls" will be tempted to backslide and avoid the new tax, taking up again the old cob pipe or their crannies.

A cob pipe well made and stemmed gives a cool and unctuous smoke to the user and I confidently expect to see what the old pipe has been doing in the past.

Resides it will be found easier to bootleg cigarette papers and blend smoking tobacco that are not taxed to make "home-brew" cigarettes. It will not be long before that will be both apparent and pestiferous.

Of course, a cigar and cigarette are wholly luxuries. They are in no sense necessities and to tax them is perfectly legitimate; but one must not forget the effect of a near prohibitive tax on luxuries largely defeats the lucrativeness of the tax. It may be so in this case.

The Income Tax Is Popular.

It is really surprising how many of the states have been turning this year to the personal and corporation income tax to strengthen their revenues.

In some of the states constitutional amendments have to be first ratified before a tax can be imposed, but in others it has been found that the decision of the Georgia supreme court on the Harkin income tax measure has been a great relief to the national legislative liberty. Therefore, they are enacting the tax with confidence that, if it is attacked, there will be no chance of the precedent of the Georgia decision.

The tax is eminently fair and bearable by those who are the beneficiaries of the income. It is over the liberal exemptions allowed.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

OUR OWN PLAN FOR FARM RELIEF.

If every householder or person supporting himself or dependents were to go out and buy even a peck of wheat for the farm, it would be a fine thing that would be to the farmers who have wheat to sell. Granting that such direct demand for the wheat grower would lower the demand for manufactured wheat products, that need not worry the producers and consumers much; the middlemen who take a profit from the wheat grower would be the ones who would be hurt.

There is no little thing in the way of marketing or providing good food that is more healthful, more economical and more satisfactory in every respect than bringing home a bushel of wheat.

The first comment of the family, on seeing what the father has brought home, is "What a fine thing that would be to the farmers who have wheat to sell. Granting that such direct demand for the wheat grower would lower the demand for manufactured wheat products, that need not worry the producers and consumers much; the middlemen who take a profit from the wheat grower would be the ones who would be hurt."

For that matter, where did they learn all they know about physiology, hygiene, nutrition and the like? It is a secret. Write in and I'll tell you.

There are many different ways of preparing or serving wheat. One of the simplest is described by a reader thus:

Let the water in a small pan come to a boil, and then put a half cup of wheat in it, and let it boil till the water is all evaporated and the wheat is bursting. Serve with cream and a little sugar.

Others prefer to grind the wheat in the coffee grinder and then cook it in a double boiler—some like it cooked only a few minutes.

An excellent habit is to chew some raw wheat every day. This is particularly advisable as a wholesome substitute for gum chewing or tobacco chewing.

If you consume wheat every day, in the morning, just as it comes from the threshing, you are getting the benefit of the mineral salts, vitamin and bran which are mostly removed by milling or by manufacturing processes.

A bushel of wheat in the pantry has solved the problem of wheat for the housewife. It is a great many households, not to mention the sum of money saved on physics.

A few minutes of the city nowadays are unable to get out where they can deal directly with the farmer or at least find one who will sell wheat at the city market.

One of the put for you, then you can always find wheat at the feed store or at a seed store. It is rather a good idea of your personality to buy it in some towns. You slip into the feed or seed emporium when you think of looking and after pretense from the you're interested in everything else you come across the wheat bin accidentally.

"Hello," you exclaim brightly, "what's this stuff?" "Third seed," the man explains its wheat. "You don't take a pinch of it, do you?" "Say, do you know, I kind like it—it just do me up half a bushel of that, please." But now comes the test. The dealer laughingly informs you that it isn't fit for human consumption in that form, but you will find such a preparation of it in the city market.

Arkwright Denies Dispute With Electrical Union

Power Company Not in Controversy Between Workers and Allied Engineers.

While more than 200 electrical workers throughout the area in Georgia served by the Georgia Power Company walked off duty on strike Thursday, P. S. Arkwright, president of the company, issued a statement denying that there was any dispute or controversy between his company and the electrical workers' union.

Containing that the strike had been called to compel the Allied Engineers, an organization under contract to do work for the Georgia Power Company, to become affiliated with the union, Mr. Arkwright pointed out that linemen and other electrical workers of his company were paid higher wages than any similar labor in the south.

ers' union, Thursday said between 200 and 250 union men employed by the power company responded to the strike call. It is the contention of the union that the walkout is in protest against employment of non-union labor by the company.

In his statement, President Arkwright emphasized that the Allied Engineers, Inc., is a separate and distinct concern, having no connection with the Georgia Power Company except by contract. Insisting that there is no dispute between the company and the union, Mr. Arkwright in his statement declared:

"The company even offered to sign a contract with the union to cover its relations with such groups of its employees as the union represented. There is no dispute or difference on this point. The union, however, refused to sign a contract with the Georgia Power Company. The reason they give for their refusal is a desire to coerce the Allied Engineers, Incorporated, into signing a contract with them. They thought the only way they could attack the Allied Engineers was through the Georgia Power Company, and therefore they refused to sign it and instead they have sought to coerce and persuade employees of the Georgia Power Company to give up their jobs in the hope of thereby coercing another and entirely separate company into signing a contract with them."

President Arkwright, in commenting upon the strike, occupied the position that there exists no difference or disagreement between the union and the power company on the point of wages paid, working conditions, or union affiliation so far as that company is concerned.

"The only dispute between the union and the Allied Engineers," he stated, "is that the Allied Engineers said that it could not and would not sign a contract with the union. It did say, however, that its employees could join or could not join the union, as they individually saw fit, and that it would not discriminate for or against any worker on account of membership in the union. The attitude of the union seemed to be that it wanted the Allied Engineers to agree to show preference or discrimination in favor of the union."

Recently Allied Engineers, Inc., laid off a number of men because of reduction of its work. Mr. Arkwright said, "As a necessary consequence of this it could not keep on its pay roll every employee who was on the pay roll when formerly work was considerably more active than it is at present. In laying off such men as had to be laid off, the Allied Engineers took into consideration the length of service and the quality of work of each individual employee. It did not lay off any men on account of membership in the union. If it happened that union men were among those laid off, it was due solely and entirely to the quality of the work of such men, or to the fact that the length of serv-

Californian Flying To Daughter's Bedside

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Henry Warren, of Los Angeles, is flying by plane from his home in an effort to reach the bedside of his little daughter, Rose, who is critically ill in a hospital here from blood poisoning. The Californian was notified Wednesday of his child's grave illness. She had been visiting in Brunswick and suffered from a boil on the calf of her leg, which later developed into blood poisoning. She was brought to Savannah for treatment.

Warren cannot hope to reach Savannah until tomorrow some time. Today the child's condition was critical.

Elder Statement.

T. L. Elder, business manager, Local No. 84 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, gave out the following statement Thursday night:

"We agree with Mr. Arkwright that it is quite unfortunate that the men who have spent the best part of their lives in an industry should be forced to give up their jobs that they need so badly in order to maintain a labor organization. However, a question far more vital and important to the employees of the Power Company is involved, a question in the final analysis affecting wages and conditions, the right of men to join the union without being made the victim of unfair treatment and discrimination. The employees of the Power Company clearly understand what will happen to their wages and conditions if the very apparent effort on the part of the company to destroy their union is not checked. No doubt the officials of this company will continue their efforts to confuse the public and belabor the real issue. Collective bargaining and the right of men to join the union is all that the electrical workers are asking."

"The statement that there is no discrimination against men in the employ of the Power Company because of their affiliation with the union compares very favorably with the statement that only 50 men left the employ of the company. As a matter of fact over 250 men attended a meeting in the Labor Temple at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, only two hours after the call was issued. A considerable number of men throughout the state had not been notified of this call when this meeting was held. All men belonging to the union have withdrawn their employment from the company and a great number of men having no affiliation with the union have walked out. To say that the Georgia Power Company has no connection with the Allied Engineers is simply another method of the Power Company in hiding things. All men now employed by the Allied Engineers were formerly employed by the Georgia Power Company. It is simply a matter of picking out a certain group of men who do mostly construction work, who were in the employ of the Power Company, and telling them their boss is the Allied Engineers. The same officers and directors interlock the Georgia Power Company and the Allied Engineers. They are all housed in the same building, and I presume get their money from the same source."

"It has been the policy of the Georgia Power Company to transfer men from one department to the other claiming that when it was convenient to do so that they were just one big organization, and we are thoroughly convinced that the refusal of the Allied Engineers to deal in any way with our union is only a subterfuge to escape responsibility in dealing with the union. As to the men being led off by myself or any other individual, that is not the case. As evidence of that fact, many non-union men have left the employ of the company without solicitation from union men. In the Georgia Power Company's $6 preferred stock sale cam-

Shakespeare in Original Form To Be Given by Greet Players

A company of players who present Shakespeare in such a manner that they are accustomed to playing before audiences numbering anywhere from

Muriel Hutchinson, leading woman with the Ben Greet Players, who appear twice at the city auditorium on Saturday.

5,000 to 37,000 people, will be in Atlanta Saturday.

They are the Ben Greet Players, headed by Sir Philip Ben Greet, and they will play afternoon and night at the city auditorium. At the matinee, which starts promptly at 2:30, the play will be "Twelfth Night," while the curtain at night will rise promptly at 8:30 on a first quarto presentation of "Hamlet." (Note that "first quarto"—its important.)

No dramatic organization of the century has demonstrated so emphatically that the drawing power of Shakespeare has not waned in this age of mechanical amusements as the Ben Greet Players. In a day when the company boasted the fact that 85 per cent of the men engaged in this controversy were purchasers of this stock.

"It does not seem reasonable that the men, holders of the $6 preferred stock, were as well satisfied as the officials of the company would have the public to believe they were as we do not see how they could invest their money in a company and then strike against it if they were satisfied with their job. The officials of the Georgia Power Company and the Allied Engineers were frank to admit they have no control over the policies of the company's activities, particularly as it relates to matters of public policy affecting the people of this section. All of their policies are shaped by the heads of the power trust and are passed along down the line to men in various localities where the power trust operates."

"It is not our intention to burden the newspapers and the public with the trial of this controversy. But knowing the fairness of our local press in dealing with and seeking out both sides of every important issue we are glad to submit this statement so that the public may be in possession of all facts in the controversy."

"Notwithstanding the statement of Mr. Arkwright that there was no discrimination, dozens of our men have been told by company officials to quit the organization if they wanted to keep their jobs and more than 200 men have been forced out of the organization during the past two years, during which time we have done everything possible to settle this matter. At last conference with Mr. Arkwright Saturday he officially advised committee, including president of Atlanta Federation of Trades, that the Allied Engineers would not deal collectively with men, but they would only be handled as individuals."

"The officials of the Power Company know and all of the people of Atlanta who are conversant with the facts of the controversy know that the union made every honorable effort to prevent a cessation of work and not until we were thoroughly convinced that the company had no intention of changing their tactics did we consent to our men leaving their jobs. In spite of the fact that our members had voted to do this several months ago. The men are determined to carry on until their right to bargain collectively is firmly established."

PORTUGAL SWEEP BY HEAVY STORMS

LISBON, March 19.—(AP)—Heavy rain and winds of gale force drenched Portugal from end to end today, flooding sections of Lisbon, turning the river Tagus into a lashing menace.

Waves broke in Black Horse Square, where the stock exchange and government buildings are. Fishing vessels bobbed helplessly on an ordinarily quiet river; houses were unroofed, falling signs and broken windows injured pedestrians standing about to watch the tempest.

Water was six feet deep in the lower sections of the city and telephone communication with suburbs was cut off. Ferry service across the Tagus was suspended and the provinces reported heavy damage.

At Setil, a railway junction, the wind sent freight cars on a sliding rolling down the track to smash into a tangle of uprooted trees. At Poligon de Tancoe hailstones broke every window in the village and lightning struck the church. Near Ovar a cyclone burst. The storm continued undiminished tonight.

POLA'S DIVORCE ARGUED IN PARIS

PARIS, March 19.—(AP)—The divorce suit by Pola Negri, motion picture actress, against Prince Serge Mdivani, charging that he abandoned her twice and refused to respond to a legal summons to resume their life in Connon, was argued this afternoon before the Seine tribunal by counsel. Neither principal appeared.

The judge fixed no date for issuance of a final decree but indicated he would do so soon.

Filling Station Alky Kills Seven Mexicans

BATON, N. M., March 19.—(AP) Seven men who drank denatured alcohol at a stag party are dead. Another member of the party, Reuben Padilla, was in a critical condition today.

The dead were Benny Sandoval, Ismael Apodaca and his brother, Clyde Apodaca, Frank E. Valdez, Filiberto Garcia, Andy Montoya and Joe Vigil.

Before his death, Montoya told authorities the alcohol intended for automobile radiators was obtained from a filling station.

Carolina Banker Confesses to Theft

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 19.—(AP)—Jess F. Roche, vice president and cashier of the Home Savings Bank which closed here January 20, today pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $12,500 from the bank and to making a false entry of $20,000.

He pleaded not guilty to other allegations of violating the state banking laws and was placed on trial.

Closing of Boston Bank Is Ordered

BOSTON, March 19.—(UP)—The Industrial Bank and Trust Company of Boston, with deposits totaling approximately $2,312,000, was ordered closed last night by State Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy.

This action was taken because of alleged "bad and doubtful loans which have seriously impaired and probably wiped out the capital," Guy announced.

Charges of violating the state banking laws also were made against the institution.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Coughs

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute relief for colds and coughs due to colds. Authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk sixty cents for a bottle of Aspirin and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow or call for you; money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold or cough fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children. Aspirin is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night—(adv.)

MOUNTAIN MEMORIAL COMITY IS PREDICTED

Mayor and Venable Heirs Confer on Existing Obstacles.

Adjustment of differences over tender of the scrap of Stone Mountain, on which it is proposed that the borough of Atlanta will direct the carving of an everlasting monument to the valor of the south's heroes was predicted freely Thursday following concentration of Mayor James L. Key, heirs of the Stone Mountain property and civic leaders on a solution of the problem on which hangs the future of what Gutzon Borglum has declared will be the world's greatest monument.

Mayor Key declined to discuss the latest offer of two of the heirs, Mrs. Cornelia Venable Oram and Mrs. Robert Venable Roper, to permit the borough to have the property for 20 years and permit an extension if needed. He awaited further developments.

Sam H. Venable, the other heir of the late William H. Venable, it was learned, has called on the other heirs to conform to the demand of Mayor Key and give a deed in fee simple to the borough on the assurance of the mayor that unless actual work is begun and well under way during his four-year administration, he will see that the property reverts to the heirs.

The mayor holds that an unconditional deed is a condition precedent to successful prosecution of the project, and that any other deed would hamper the free work on the project, inasmuch as money must be raised to prosecute it from sources other than the borough treasury.

J. Lawrence McCord, interested in effecting a reconciliation between the administration and the heirs, which would enable resumption of carving activities at an early date, has written letters to various of the heirs urging them to give an unconditional deed, and Mr. Venable has supported his stand in the matter.

Horace Russell, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, also is interested in prosecution of the work at the earliest possible moment and has added the weight of his indorsement to the request for an unconditional deed.

It was predicted that the various interests would be able to iron out any existing differences and enter into an agreement within the next few days. Mr. Borglum is due in Atlanta about the middle of the week and he is expected to confer at the time with all those interested in an effort to placate all interests.

NEW STERCHI STORE OPENS THIS MORNING

Sterchi's new wall paper, paint and tire department, located at 150-152 Mitchell street, adjoining the company's furniture store, will open this morning with one of the largest stocks and most modern displays in this territory.

J. F. Saunders, of Knoxville, Tenn., supervisor of the company's mail order department, has been in Atlanta for several weeks arranging the details of the new department and is in charge of the opening.

The store will be under the management of C. A. Stevenson, who has been connected with the leading establishments of this kind here for the past eight years, and is well known in business circles.

In addition to serving the retail trade of Atlanta and surrounding territory, this store will serve as division headquarters for Georgia, and all mail orders from this state will be filled here, according to Mr. Saunders.

Stores similar to the one here are being opened in Chattanooga, Nashville, Charlotte and Asheville, Mr. Saunders says, and it is expected that the volume through the Atlanta department will exceed all others, including the Knoxville division.

Mr. Saunders says that the company has been doing a big mail order business in these three items and that the volume reached the point where it was necessary to establish these division headquarters.

The co-operation of many of the most skilled painters and paper hangers in Atlanta has been secured by the company, Mr. Saunders says, and the wall paper stocks will include the lines of the leading mills of the country.

For the formal opening the store will remain open tonight and Saturday night, Mr. Saunders announces.

ALMSHOUSE MOVE WAITS JULY PROBE

A hitch in plans to swap the county alms house property in north Fulton county, 300 acres, for a tract of 1,200 acres in southwest Fulton county, developed Thursday when a committee of the Fulton county grand jury requested the county commission to hold up action on the proposal until the grand jury has time to investigate.

A delegation from the South Fulton Civic Federation, an organization representing 22 clubs, appeared before the commission Thursday afternoon and protested against moving the alms house to the southside.

W. L. Smith, 18, of 733 Capitol avenue, a passenger in the car on the night of the accident, was thrown free of the wreckage and sustained a broken nose and severe lacerations about the head. The accident set fire to a filling station, causing a gasoline tank to explode, after high voltage wires had been dragged down.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Broeman and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Daniel dined together.

Whiteford Garden Club.

Whiteford Garden Club met recently at the home of Mrs. C. L. Smith on Whiteford avenue.

The following committees were appointed to serve the year: Membership, Mrs. E. D. Saye; scrapbook, Mrs. L. S. Kelly, with Mrs. Royall Houghton as co-chairman; telephone, Mrs. J. F. Wylie; exchange, Mrs. James Hansen; sick and visiting, Mrs. Royall Houghton.

Mrs. W. W. Smith and Mrs. C. P. Eldridge were welcomed into the club as new members.

The Whiteford Garden Club voted to send flower seeds to Tallulah Falls and exchange flower seeds with foreign clubs.

An interesting report on the February fifth district rally held with the West End Civic Club was made by Mrs. E. D. Saye. In her report Mrs. Saye gave the plans for the flower show to be held by the fifth district in October in which the Whiteford Garden Club voted to participate.

Rebekah Lodge Memorial.

This evening Decatur Rebekah Lodge No. 31 will drape its charter in memory of the late Dennis Lindsay, one of the members.

The beautiful and impressive ceremony will be carried out by Mrs. Harper H. Harden, president of the Past Officers' Club of Atlanta; Mrs. J. Ed Bodenhamer, past president of the assembly of Georgia; Miss Bettie Sims, past noble grand of Decatur lodge, and Miss Ina Mae Butler, all members of Decatur Rebekah lodge. Miss Sarah Sims will sing "Abide With Me" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and preside at the piano during the ceremony. An invitation is extended to all members of the order to be present.

Crawford W. Long, U. D. C.

The Crawford W. Long, U. D. C., met at the Henry Grady Wednesday afternoon. The chapter welcomed the president, Mrs. Alexander O. Harper, who has spent the past two months in Florida. Reports of the scholarships given by the chapter were received.

An invitation given the chapter to attend the dedication of Crawford W. Long Memorial hospital was accepted. The chapter unanimously voted Miss Emma Long, the youngest daughter of Dr. Crawford W. Long, as honorary member of the chapter for life. Miss Long, who makes her home in Athens, is at present at Piedmont sanitarium.

Miss Marian Lampkin, director of the Crawford W. Long C. of C., gave an interesting report of the children. Besides footwarmers for every veteran in the home, the C. of C. gave a splendid dance program for the veterans on Valentine Day, later decorating the supper tables with Valentines, large red apples and candies.

Mrs. Frank Matthews reported that the chapter would confer crosses of service and crosses of honor June 3 at special exercises at the state capital.

The chapter will meet April 15, at which time Judge Max Land will address the members.

Miss Banks Weds Mr. Jarrell At Ceremony in Grantville

GRANTVILLE, Ga., March 19.—The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Banks and William Franklin Jarrell, of LaGrange, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bobo Banks, here Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

The reception rooms were decorated in ferns and other greens in green floor baskets. Narcissus and pink roses in silver baskets were used throughout the rooms. In the living room where the ceremony was performed an improvised altar of Boston and maidenhair ferns was topped with two seven-branched brass candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. Large bows of white tulle and maidenhair fern tied the candelabra. The mantel and windows were banked with bridal wreath and fern.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Harvey Reid, of LaGrange, sang "Because," accompanied by Miss Evelyn Lambert, of Grantville. The wedding march by Mendelssohn was played by Miss Lambert, accompanied by Miss Roselyn Brown, of Newnan, on the violin.

The bride's only attendants were the junior bridesmaid and groomsmen, little Mary Ellen Banks, of Newnan, and Warren Mitchell, of Greenville, S. C. They entered together and stood on either side of the altar. Little Miss Banks wore a lingerie frock with a shoulder spray of pink roses and valley lilies.

The bride wore a spring suit of ashen of roses flat crepe with a blouse of chiffon. The skirt and coat were both fashioned with flared hemlines. Her hat was of natural burl straw, the brim being finished with a lace straw edging. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and valley lilies showered with lilies and tied with white white satin ribbons.

Rev. J. H. Allison, pastor of the Grantville Methodist church, performed the ring ceremony.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Banks entertained at a reception. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. J. R. Cotton and Mrs. Nat O. Banks, the bride's grandmothers; Mr. and Mrs. William Banks, of Newnan; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Banks, Mrs. Sam Banks, Miss Sara Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Banks, of Newnan; Mrs. Beumant Davison, Jr., Mrs. Warren Mitchell, Miss Jean Cotton kept the bride's book.

Wedding Journey. Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell left by motor for a wedding trip to Florida after which they will be at home on Hill street in LaGrange. The bride traveled in a blue ensemble with a coat of navy collared in natural lapin fur. Among the out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Warren Mitchell and Warren Mitchell, Jr., of Greenville, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Keough, of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. William Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Banks, of Newnan; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cotton, of Palmetto; Mrs. H. F. Jarrell, Sr.; Miss Anna Moll Edmondson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tatum, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reynolds, Mrs. Harvey Reid, Miss Louise Moon, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dunsen, B. W. Cubbage, of LaGrange, and Miss Jean Cotton, of LaGrange College.

The business session will be followed by a social hour when an interesting program will be presented. The minstrel show recently produced at the banquet of the Young Women's Bible class will be repeated by request. Sixty members and honor guests will be present.

Lance-Jordan Rites. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Lance, of 808 Dixie avenue, N. E., announce the marriage of their daughter, Gladys Viola, to Jack Denver Jordan. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Oakley, pastor of the Peachtree Road Presbyterian church, Saturday, March 14, at his home.

After March 22 Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will be at home at their new home at 3 Roxboro road.

Miss Alene Fox Weds Mr. Uhry At Ceremony at Standard Club

The marriage of Miss Alene Fox and Ralph K. Uhry was beautifully solemnized in the presence of relatives and friends last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Standard Club on Ponce de Leon avenue. Rabbi David Marx officiating at the ceremony. The hall room of the club, where the wedding took place, was a bower of greenery, with palms, ferns and southern smilax placed in profusion throughout. The majestic columns on each side of the room were overlaid with smilax. An improvised altar flanked with lilies and white roses in tall baskets formed a background for the ceremony.

Entering first was the bride's only attendant, Mrs. Charles R. Liebman, sister of the groom. Mrs. Liebman wore pink lace trimmed in tulle and carried a bouquet of multi-colored roses, snapdragons and sweetpeas.

Lovely Bride.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Alfred Fox, was lovely in a gown of palest flesh-colored satin fashioned on simple princess lines. Her veil, which was capped to her head with orange blossoms, was made of tulle and rosepoint lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. Acting as best man was the groom's brother, Julian K. Uhry.

Mrs. Alfred Fox, mother of the bride, was gowned in cream lace combined with chiffon and carried a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. H. Uhry, mother of the groom, was gowned in white chiffon beaded in rhinestones, and wore a shoulder bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride and groom, with the members of their family, received congratulations in the spacious living room of the club. At 8:30 o'clock dinner was served. Lawrence Fox acted as master of ceremonies.

Motor Trip.
Following dinner the bride and groom left by motor for a two-week trip to Florida and Cuba. For traveling Mrs. Uhry wore a blue suit with a close-fitting hat and a shoulder bouquet.

quet of orchids. On their return Mr. Uhry and his bride will reside at 1050 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mrs. Uhry, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fox, 1017 St. Charles avenue, is a graduate of Girls' High school, where she was a cum laude student, and of Wellesley College, where she was an honor member of the senior class of June, 1930.

H. Uhry, 828 Peachtree street, is a graduate of Beaumont High school, Beaumont, Texas, where he formerly resided. He later attended Tulane University in New Orleans, La.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding and pre-nuptial affairs were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Guthman, Savannah; Mrs. H. J. Levy and S. H. Levy, Louisiana; Mrs. Ed Gibson, Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kaufman, and Misses Janis and Carol Kaufman, Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Solomon, Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. A. Shulhafer, Savannah; Mrs. S. Fleishel, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Friedman, Cleveland; Miss Alice Vactor, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. John Frank, Cincinnati; Mrs. Ida Furst, Baltimore; Mrs. Morris Loveman, Nashville; Miss Lucille Rosenfeld, Nashville; Max Gunman, Savannah.

Irish Costume Ball.
The public will be welcomed to the Irish costume ball to be given this evening in the Egyptian ballroom of the Shrine Mosque, and sponsored by the house committee of Yaarab temple. Entire proceeds will go to the house furnishing fund.

Prices will be awarded for the most original Irish costumes. For those who do not care to wear costumes the dress will be formal. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. Tickets for the affair can be purchased in the lounge room of the Mosque or from members of Yaarab's uniformed organizations. This is the first of a series of monthly dances planned by the house committee; the next dance will be given April 17.

On the Brow of the Man Who Loves the Fire- side Is Written the Guarantee Which a Sen- sible Woman Wants: "Warranted to Last a Lifetime."

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I am married, 22 years old, and love a good time. My husband is settled and perfectly contented to sit at home while I am crazy to go places and do things. We are very much in love and I do not want to hurt him. I work in an office and have plenty of invitations to go to parties but when night comes he is always too tired to go and he thinks we should settle down and stay at home. Please advise me what to do, because we have talked this over a hundred times and the conclusion he comes to is that I am silly and will soon get over it. My conclusion is that I won't. I will be glad to get an outsider's advice.

ANSWER:
I can give you the best sort of advice and you won't take a word of it. I can also give you a little prophecy about what you will do. The prophecy is: You and your husband will go on arguing about this fine point for years and years, until you get so old you won't want to go. You will have many a quarrel over it. He will never change his viewpoint, though if going is the price of peace and you are stronger willed than he, he will go with you, often against his will. If he is stronger than you, you will end by contenting yourself with the fire. The argument, like the brook, will go on forever. If you love each other, mind you, it will go on. If you don't, the consciousness that you had made an awful mistake would overwhelm you and you would lastly fly the coop. But you have made no mistake. You have the best guarantee that goes with a man. The guarantee which reads "Warranted to last a lifetime."

The fireside companions, famed in song and story, are scarcer and scarcer as the hectic years go by. The fever and the fret of this age have got into the nervous systems of this generation and they know no pleasure that doesn't include noise, and bright lights, and loud music and whirling speed. A young man who loves the fireside is a "musical piece." How many oldish and world weary women would like to trade with you?

Turn about is fair play. If your husband likes to sit at home and you like to go about, you should come to some amicable agreement that provides for him to go with you one time and for you to sit with him the next. The trouble is that each of you will be afraid of establishing a precedent which you cannot break. The husband thinks you won't cry long for the candy if you don't see it. You think you won't think if he could get a taste of going about he would be diverted and like to go often. He knows better.

The advice: All of life is a give and take. The more you give the more you are entitled to take. Marriage to be successful must recognize and live by the principle. Before two lovers are married they are concerned with giving. They never consider the taking end of it. But when they are married and come down to earth and see the domestic hearth they begin to think that the business of giving can't go on forever or there will be nothing left. So they begin to take and the first thing they take, or try to take, is liberty. Young man, your wife wants so much she will take yours if you don't watch. Young woman, your husband wants so much he will rob you completely, if you don't watch.

A woman who had been married 20 years sat talking with a woman who had been married 40 years. They were discussing husbands as married and single women always do when they get together. One would think they had no other interest in life. The older woman was telling of a pretty stiff discussion which she had had with her husband about morning over a topic that had been up for 40 years. The younger woman groaned and asked: "Does it never end? I have expected each discussion to be the last."

"No," replied the older woman, "I can testify that some of them last for 40 years."

So, young lady, I hold out scant hope to you about the settlement of your dispute. Just remember that for comfort, give and take, and you will find a sense of humor which God gave you to use in dealing with a man. Don't allow it to get away from you or to be destroyed in the battle.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

BEAUTY FASHIONS

Burgess Children's Stories
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Danny Meadow Mouse and Nanny were glad that sweet Mistress Spring had arrived. They were quite as glad as any others, and although they couldn't show it by singing like Peep the Hyla, and Sticktoes the Tree Toad and some of the feathered folk, they had ways of their own of showing it. All over the Great Meadows the tender new grass was beginning to push up through the soft earth. How good that grass did taste! It seemed to Danny and Nanny that never had they tasted anything so good. It was such a welcome change from the dry food of all winter.

However, there were worries, too. It seemed to Danny that every day there were more enemies to watch for. He had seen Mr. and Mrs. Redshoulder the very day they arrived. He had chanced to look up in the sky and had seen them sailing in big circles. At once he had warned Nanny Meadow Mouse.

"Now we must watch our steps," said he. "Redshoulder and Mrs. Redshoulder certainly are fond of Alice and they are going to spend a lot of time watching for us."

"Perhaps," suggested Nanny, "they don't stay around here this year. I hope they won't."

But the Redshoulders did stay, as you and I know, when they did do a great deal of hunting over the Green Meadows as Danny had said they would. So Danny and Nanny never dared move in the daytime with out first looking up to see if those big Hawks were anywhere in sight. Danny had wisely insisted that they keep out in the middle of the Green Meadows away from trees. He knew all about Redshoulder's habit of sitting high up in a tree so as to look down for some distance around. He knew, too, just how keen were the wonderful eyes of this big hawk.

By being ever watchful and careful he and Nanny managed to keep out of sight, but it seemed to Danny that there wasn't an hour of the day that one of those big Hawks wasn't on watch. As a matter of fact one of the other was watching most of the time. They took turns sitting on their precious eggs. While one hunted the other sat on the eggs. Redshoulder was very good about this. He was just ready and willing to take his share. Mrs. Redshoulder did more sitting than he did, but whenever she wanted to stretch her wings and do a little hunting he was ready to take her place. Whatever happened those eggs must not be allowed to get chilled.

Danny Meadow Mouse heard Peep the Hyla when he started the chorus over in the Smiling Pool. Day by day more of Peep's relatives took part until there was a mighty chorus of sweet singers and it seemed as if the Smiling Pool must be filled with Hylas. At last Danny heard the thrill of Sticktoes the Tree Toad, who isn't a Toad at all but a Frog. After that Danny often stopped to listen.

"What are you listening to?" Nanny asked.

"To the chorus in the Smiling Pool," replied Danny.

"Huh!" replied Nanny in her funny squaky voice. "Huh!" I should think you could find something better to do than to listen to that noise. You couldn't hear hearing it if you wanted to."

Danny merely grinned and made no reply. More and more often Nanny caught him listening. It annoyed her. She couldn't see a sense in it, and didn't hesitate to say so. Then one morning as he sat listening Danny heard another voice in that chorus. He gave a boy-skip and jump of joy.

"He's awake!" he cried.

"Who is awake?" demanded Nanny. "Croaker the Green Frog," replied Danny. "That means that pretty soon now all the Frogs will be out."

"What of it?" demanded Nanny crossly.

"What of it?" repeated Danny. "Why it means easier times for us. Those Hawks are going to spend a lot of time looking for Frogs, instead of all their time watching for us. The worst of it, Croaker's voice is what I have been listening for."

Hospitals specify Kotex—so should you!

THE outstanding hospitals of America make it a point to specify Kotex for their women patients. They use Kotex absorbent for dozens of important surgical cases. No approval could be more important to you.

Kotex is preferred because it absorbs correctly—over a large surface, not just in one concentrated spot; because it is treated to deodorize; because it is safe.

And you can wear Kotex on either side in perfect safety.

TWO-TO-ONE TWO-TO-ONE TWO-TO-ONE TWO-TO-ONE

PERFECT BAKING
all the way through

...dough must be light when it goes in the oven.....

Dough should start to rise when you start to mix it. When put in the oven it should be two-thirds leavened. This permits the baking heat to penetrate evenly so that from crust to center the bake is just right—never dry and crumbly, never heavy and soggy, but baked right all the way through.

Rumford leavening is called two-to-one leavening because it works this way every time—two-thirds always takes place in the mixing and the remaining third in the oven. And leavening takes place in this perfect proportion only when an all-phosphate powder such as Rumford is used.

Get Rumford from your grocer and give your baking the advantages of two-to-one leavening.

Miss Kilgore Weds Lt. Waldron At Lovely Ceremony in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 19.—The marriage of Miss Dorothy Kilgore to Lieutenant Joseph Gould Waldron, of Portland, Maine, and Fort Benning, was solemnized at a fashionable ceremony taking place at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Kilgore, on Third avenue. The marriage service was read by the Rev. Harris, of St. Luke's Methodist church of Columbus, in the presence of a representative throng of southern society.

Throughout the spacious home quantities of palms, ferns and baskets of Easter lilies were arranged as decorations. In the living room, where the ceremony was performed, an improvised altar was formed of palms, and tall pedestals holding white Easter lilies interspersed with seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers.

Attendants Enter.
The groomsmen included Stanley Hall, of Hattiesburg, Miss., and Lieutenant Thomas Drake, of Fort Benning.

Mrs. David Lewis, sister of the bride, acted as the matron of honor and Miss Elizabeth Branch, of Atlanta, was the maid of honor. They wore gowns fashioned alike of pink starched chiffon, made along princess lines. Adding color to the gowns were turquoise blue ribbon sashes. Shell pink picture hats, banded in turquoise blue ribbons, completed the lovely costumes. The attendants carried graceful arm bouquets of pink roses.

The beautiful young bride descended the stairway of the home with her brother, Virgil Kilgore, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Lieutenant Fred Robbins, of Fort Benning.

Bride's Beauty.
The distinctive brunette beauty of the bride was enhanced by her gown of beige lace, fashioned along princess lines, with long ankle-length. Her hat was an off-the-face model of beige horsehair and she carried an arm bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Following the wedding ceremony, Mrs. Kilgore entertained at an informal reception. Forming a receiving line with the hostess were the bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Waldron, of Portland, Maine, parents of the bridegroom, and members of the wedding party.

O. E. S. Bible To Be Used Sunday

The Bible which is being sent all over the world to be used in chapter meetings of the Order of the Eastern Star will be used at the 11 o'clock service next Sunday morning at the Grace Methodist church and on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Bible will be used at a memorial service conducted by the Atlanta Eastern Stars at the First Christian church, corner Pryor street and Trinity avenue. Rev. C. R. Stauffer, the pastor, will preach a sermon on the book, using as his text, "The Word of Truth." Mrs. Julia Jackson Turner, past grand matron of the order in Georgia, will call the roll of chapters. Each worthy matron will respond by reading a list of those in her chapter who have died since the grand chapter last June, and a flower will be placed in the huge eastern star for each. There will be appropriate music. The memorial service will be the final and crowning event of the Bible's stay in Atlanta.

"The Store All Women Know"

Ollie Marquardt Counted On To Help Pull Red Sox Out of Cellar

Pot Shots and Nibbles

By Zan Heyward

Fish ain't got a bit more curiosity than us humans. We bite on a lot of things that ain't near as attractive lookin' as some of these fancy bait.

Another one of them "fish stories." It happened down in Arkansas and I've got three or four friends that will swear to it. Seems that about the same time a setter produced a litter of pups, a sow did likewise in the pig line, but she had sort of hard luck and got herself and all of the little pigs, except one, run over and killed.

No little pig that was left took up with the setter pups and practically didn't go so far as to claim. When they began running around in the fields, followin' their instinct, the little pig ran around with them. When they'd stop and sniff at where a bird had been, the pig would come along and take a sniff, too. Pretty soon the pups began to grow up and so did the pig. When the pups would freeze into a point, the pig would back 'em up in the best imitation of a point that a pig can make. Of course, the pig was a lot slower than the dogs, but he'd always get there in time to help with the cover. The folks that told me this didn't go so far as to claim that the pig really ever found a cover by himself, but they swear that he got so he would make game and they'd call the dogs over to where he was, and sure enough they'd nail a cover in a few minutes.

Everywhere else pigs is pigs, but down in Arkansas they're bird dogs.

Amateur Mat Card Set for Saturday

Another amateur wrestling program, with nine matches, has been scheduled for 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, by L. H. Cunningham, physical director at the Y.

Two of the feature matches on the program will be between Red Hardy and A. K. Bell and L. O. Henry and Jack English, both under the professional rules.

Hardy and Bell won falls over Chattanooga wrestlers last Saturday night to give the Atlanta Y an 18-15 tie score with the Lookouts.

English has never been thrown on the Y. M. C. A. mat and resumes his activities with Henry, who has not been defeated in his last few starts. They wrestled 30 minutes to a draw three weeks ago and came back for another 10-minute draw in an exhibition match two weeks ago.

Others on the program include J. W. Day and Bill Matheson (165 pounds), Bill Carson and Lee Perkins (145 pounds), L. C. Jones and Red Alcott (125 pounds), Allen Sims and Whitey Craig (155 pounds), Jack Branch and Charles Crane (115 pounds), J. C. Nance and Pete Poulos and Abe Martin and George Chotas.

CRACKERS DROP SPRING OPENER TO READING, 12-6

Three Ex-White Sox Players Star; Keys Are Outhit.

They had been enumerated. The Crackers attacked Broadway Jones and Hank Gramp, the two key throwers, for 18 base hits. That happened to be four more than Reading made. The Crackers spread their blows out like jam on the bread and got nowhere at all. The Keys exploded theirs when men were on the sacks and blew the boys right home. Which is one way to win ball games.

The Keys hit some good pitching. Bunny Hearn started for the Crackers. Bunny, the little left-hander, had plenty of stuff. But the Keys took too holds and busted that baseball to all fields. In Hearn's four innings the Keys got 10 hits and eight runs.

ERRORS HURT. Paul Gregory, with his fast ball, came in after Hearn departed. He pitched good baseball. The Crackers made errors behind him. One error was a home run error. Martin threw wild to first, trying to catch George Quelling, who was explained away after the game that the Crackers were not lazy but thought there were ground rules. There were none. Gregory gave up three hits in four innings, which was very good pitching.

Hugh Starling pitched the final inning and allowed one hit. He will come back today in the second game of the Reading series.

POUNDING ALONG. There is no use reciting the sordid details of the Reading scoring. They made four in the first and increased the lead right along. The first six men in the Reading lineup got hits. The first five got at least two each. The Crackers made their runs one at a time with the exception of the eighth when they bunched five hits and got two tallies out of it. Roy Carlyle retired the side by hitting Poco Taitt, the Oregon woodsman, who was going to second. This gave Carlyle his only hit of the day.

The two clubs play again this afternoon. The game will begin at 2:30. Starling and Climax Blithen are due to pitch for the Crackers.

Landis En Route To New Orleans

MOBILE, Ala., March 19.—(P)—Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, passed through Mobile late today en route from the training camp of ball clubs in Florida. His next stop will be at New Orleans.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Krawtzen Rice

The Professor and Sport. THERE are many times when lines of thought cross sharply. A letter had just come in complaining of the faculty attitude towards sport, especially towards football. "What," asked one writer, "does any professor know about any form of sport?"

At about the same time there arrived a letter detailing some of the work of Dr. D. A. Penick, professor of Greek at the University of Texas. The odds are quite heavy that you never heard of Dr. Penick, even if you happen to be a tennis enthusiast. Yet Dr. Penick has been a big factor in coaching and developing such tennis stars as Wilmer Allison, Berkeley Bell, Bruce Barnes, Louis Thalhimer, Lewis White, Karl Kramath and Joe Bill. He gives his time and his coaching ability without any charge attached.

And he has turned out more stars from the Texas campus, more tennis stars than any other university has yet given the game in the same space of time.

The Princeton Plan. NO UNIVERSITY in the country has adopted a sadder plan of scheduled practice than Princeton has used. It employs an elaborate system of counter-charges, without starting any feud, Princeton has selected the list of opponents it wanted to play, without any regard to gate receipts or eastern ranking.

It has arranged games only with universities that Princeton felt had the same standards that Princeton followed. Where there could be no unfriendly aftermath. Many of these football contests have lacked the shine of national glamour. But they have been good, friendly, hard fought contests in which each team had at least an even chance to win, take up into consideration scholarship rating and an equal chance at material.

There are undoubtedly Princeton graduates who prefer the old days of championship tennis and championship schedules. But the Princeton plan is a sadder arrangement when it comes to intercollegiate sport.

Golf Reputations. A NUMBER of golf reputations can be made or increased in the next fortnight. After the La Gorce $15,000 open there will be the north and south at Pinehurst and the southeast at Augusta, both of which will bring fine fields into action and give some outstanding star a fine chance to start the spring campaign with a bang.

This means three 72-hole tests in a short while, with the pick of the professional field tossed into action. In any such event, Bobby Jones is to be expected before the next open arrives, these three tournaments give him the chance to show his stuff.

Cobb, who comes from Augusta, where they have two fine courses waiting, that the field will be one of the best in years for any spring show. It's interesting in a golf sense, a trifle different from the old days when he was warring off the final rush of Joe Jackson and Tris Speaker for the batting championship of the American league.

He had two stars to beat, among others, but he managed to wiggle out in front a matter of 12 out of 13 starts, another batting mark that may never be tied.

Perkins Advances In Florida Tourney ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 19.—(P)—T. Phillips Perkins, former British amateur title holder, who has played sensational golf recently in Florida, advanced to the semi-finals of the winter amateur championship of Florida today by trouncing Gray Singleton, University of Florida, 7 and 6.

Perkins will meet Jack Toomer, Jacksonville, Fla., ace, tomorrow. Toomer won the right to meet the Briton by defeating Jack Ryerson, former Yale star, 1 up.

Horace Cook, Princeton, N. J., and Tommy Goodwin, 17-year-old New York State shotmaker, will meet in the other semi-final. Cooke defeated Howard Tryon, Elmira, N. Y., 2 and 1, while Goodwin beat Rick Garsen, Ashland, Ohio, by the same margin.

Perkins continued his streak of sub par golf by going out in a 34 today, to be 5 up and finished 34 or three under 48 for the round. The Briton did not make a single mistake.

Len Harvey Makes Another Bid Tonight NEW YORK, March 19.—(P)—Len Harvey, middleweight champion of Europe, but just another English fighter on this side of the water to date, will attempt to record his first American triumph tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden when he meets Ben Jeyr, East Side Hebrew.

In his two American appearances Harvey has dropped two close decisions to Vince Dundee, Baltimore boxer. Despite the fact that he takes on a one-time conqueror of the Baltimore Italian in tomorrow night's fight, the Briton is the favorite in the betting.

Trophies Awarded At Business College Members of the Southern Business College basketball team were presented with gold basketballs at special exercises held in the school chapel Thursday morning. President L. W. Arnold made the presentation. The Business Girls were members of the Girls' City League.

Players receiving the balls were Vivian Bonner, Willene Kitchens, Grace Causey, Virginia Cooper, Frances Hodge, Lodie Mae Underwood, Irene Crenshaw, Mary Will Fitzgerald, Elizabeth Bacon and Corah W. L. McConnell. Miss Willene Kitchens was given a fountain pen for making the best record in attendance at practice and games.

'NEW' FIELDERS, VET MOUNDSMEN BOOST HOPES

Increased Punch, Better Pitching in Prospect. Boston Smiles.

By Gayle Talbot, Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer. PENSACOLA, Fla., March 19.—(P)—A couple of slugging rookie outfielders, a young shortstop who looks like he might hit, and a pair of pitching veterans salvaged from the minors form the foundation for an intensive rebuilding program in the camp of the Boston Red Sox.

There are plenty of others—44 athletes reported to Shano Collins, new pilot—but the five aforementioned are the ones who promise to hoist the Sox out of eighth place, if such a feat is possible. Collins, up from a successful managerial career in Des Moines, isn't predicting a penny's worth. If the five star newcomers live up to his expectations, he thinks he might do pretty well. And so he might.

The pair expected to add batting power to the outfield are Albert Van Camp, a 244 pounder from Des Moines last year, and Gene Rye, the diminutive one who hit .267 for Waco in the Texas league. Rye, who gained more in the last year, is out for the time being with a broken wrist, but Collins is counting on his return before the campaign begins.

Ollie Marquardt, a sweet fielding shortstop who hit .324 for Nashville in the Southern, appears the best prospect for getting more robust hitting in the infield. It largely was the failure of the inner guardians to hit their weight that kept the Red Sox in the cellar last season.

Wiley Moore, one-time world series hero with the Yankees, and James "Lefty" Williams, a former Cub, come back from Minneapolis and St. Paul, respectively, to add strength to an already capable mound staff. Moore won 22 games last season. They promise to fit in well with the veteran group. Milt Gaston, Dan McFarland, Ed Morris, Horace Lisenbee and Jack Russell. All five pitched good ball last year, losing many a tough one in the late innings for lack of a timely hit behind them. Morris' ailing arm is back in shape.

Bill Sweeney, who hit a respectable .309 last year, at first; the veteran Bob Reeves at second; Marquardt at short, and Jack Rothrock, a converted outfielder, at third, form a tentative infield that has been favored by Collins in workouts and interclub games. Reeves hit only .217 last season, but there appears to be no rival in camp capable of doing better. His brilliant fielding partially makes up for his weakness at the plate.

If Marquardt takes over short, he will have to beat out the weak-hitting Hal Ryne, who had the job last year, and Harold Warstler, another indifferent clubber obtained from Indianapolis last season. Rothrock is being groomed for the hot corner to succeed Otis Miller, a fair hitter, who likely will be kept in a utility role. Mudloff, Olson, Marshall and Creenen are a quartet of youngsters seeking infield berths.

Teamed with Rye and Van Camp in a prospective outfield is Earl Webb, the only regular of last season to club over .300. Tom Oliver and Russell

ROBINS ROUT A'S. FORT MYERS, Fla., March 19.—(P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' high-powered attack was on display today as the National league club pounded out a 16-to-5 decision over the world champion Philadelphia Athletics.

Only two of the champions' regulars—Fox and Haas—were in the lineup and the Dodgers' first-stringers took advantage of the opportunity to pound the ball to every corner of the park.

BADE SOCKS ONE. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—(P)—Led by Ben Chapman, Tony Lazzeri and Babe Ruth, the New York Yankees defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 3, in the second of their spring series today.

Chapman and Lazzeri contributed home runs while Ruth hit a ball further than either had loomed around only to third base.

Herb Pennock, making his first appearance of the year, started on the mound for the Yankees and was pounded for seven hits and all of Cincinnati's runs in the five innings he worked.

SLAB DUEL SEEN. NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—(P)—They're already talking about a slab fight between the two big sluggers, Searritt, who hit .293 and .280, respectively, and McSwain, from the Southern, and John Lucas, who hit .347 for McCook, Neb., complete the outfield list.

Collins finds the club well fortified behind the plate, with Charles Berry, Muddy Ruel and Ed Connolly ready to divide the chores. Berry, a hard-hitting backstop, will lead the catching corps.

duel for opening day at Cleveland between Wesley Ferrell and Ted Lyons, premier right-handers of the American league. Ferrell is working toward his assured assignment as No. 1 of the Indian hurling corps while it is assumed that the White Sox will open up with Lyons on April 14.

CUBS TRADE BARTON. LOS ANGELES, March 19.—(P)—Vincent Barton, Chicago Cubs rookie outfielder, obtained from the Baltimore Orioles last year, was turned over to the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league club today as part payment for Ed Brachet, right-handed pitcher.

Four other players will be turned over to Los Angeles before the Chicago outfit leaves for the east.

FISHING DANGEROUS. BRADENTON, Fla., March 19.—(P)—Fishing will be taboo in the St. Louis Cardinal camp if there are any more accidents like the one yesterday when a fishhook caught Allin Stout, recruit pitcher from Houston, a half inch from the eye.

Stout was able to be around today, but was not in uniform and wore a bandage over his eye. Manager Gabby Street informed his men he would prohibit fishing if any more accidents occur. The Cardinals had a two-hour workout today and were given a half-day.

BRIVES NEED HURLERS. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—(P)—Needing a first-class pitcher and not knowing where to get one, Manager Bill McKechnie, of the Boston Braves, is trying to convert Randy Moore from an outfielder into a moundman.

Moore has been making impressive strides under the tutelage of Coach Hank Gowdy and will be given a pitching assignment in one of next week's exhibition games.

McKechnie said that a lack of pitchers would force him to cancel one of the two games scheduled with the Philadelphia Athletics at Fort Myers early next week.

MARINES MAKE MISCUES. MOBILE, Ala., March 19.—(P)—The champion Louisville team of the American Association defeated the Mobile Southern Association club 7 to 3 here today. Six errors proved costly to the locals. Earle Browne who hurled the last three innings for the Colonels, allowed but one hit.

WINS ARCHERY TOURNAMENT. PINEHURST, N. C., March 19.—(UP)—Dr. Paul Crouch, former national champion, won the fifth annual midwinter archery tournament today with an aggregate of 1,965. Freeman Fowler, Booth Bay Harbor, Me., was second with 1,576.

FAMILY WINNER. PITTSBURGH, N. C., March 19.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parson, Youngstown, Ohio, won the low gross prize in the annual mixed two-ball foursomes championship tournament of the Silver Fells Club today with a 75.

LEHMAN SIGNS FOR ZAHARIAS TUESDAY NIGHT

Pair To Meet in Main Match at the City Auditorium.

Charley Lehman and George Zaharias will meet on the mat at the Auditorium Tuesday night in the main event of the program.

The boxing commission sought to have Lehman switch to Zaharias last Wednesday night after Tiny Roebuck failed to show as Zaharias' opponent because of illness. It was finally decided that this was inadvisable, as the other wrestlers had already been assigned opponents.

Lehman and Zaharias met two weeks ago in a match which was one of the most spectacular of the many that have been shown here. Zaharias lost after being fouled. The commission sought to bar him and did but relented after he spent three days in Atlanta seeking a pardon.

Zaharias met Ghafoor Khan last Wednesday and won after a hard match. George and Evangelos Hanjars, the wrestling fans from the United cafe, declared that Zaharias' name is pronounced as though it were Zock-karias. And Zaharias does "Zock" his foes. "He is wan too beeg bull," declares George Hanjars.

The semi-windup and preliminary matches will be announced today or tomorrow. Tickets will go on sale immediately.

S. S. A. A. Quintets To Play for Title

The Calvary Aces and the First Presbyterian teams will play at 7:30 o'clock tonight on the Calvary court for the basketball championship of the National league of the Sunday School Athletic Association. Both teams have won eight games and lost three.

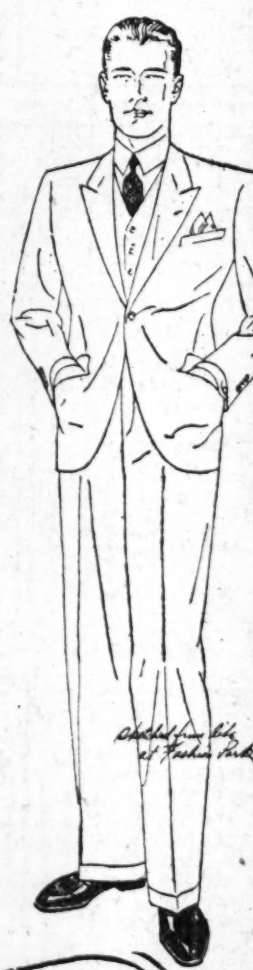

Another league title will be won and lost on the same court when Doneoh, of Calvary, and Looney, of Jackson Hill, battle for scoring honors. Doneoh is leading at present with 89 points, one ahead of Looney.

By William Almon Wolff

INSTALLMENT XXXVII.

The elation Peter had felt at first, as he saw Charley Mitchell hammering home his points, and the collapse of his victims, left him before his cab had carried him halfway across town to Park avenue and Carol's apartment. He was feeling the reaction, probably for one thing; now that Martha was safe and the tension that for two days and nights had held his nerves taut was snapped he could think of other aspects of the whole dreadful, shocking business. While she had been in imminent, hourly danger of arrest, of a public disgrace that, no matter what the final outcome, must have left her crushed and broken, nothing else had mattered.

Danger, of some sort, there still was. In spite of Charley's truth about the part Ross had played, at Meyer Zahn's instance, might come out; Martha might be held up in the tabloids as the ready dupe of a gigolo who had been the tool of a blackmailing gang. And he could guess the effect that would have upon her. In any case, even if publicity could be averted, she herself must know all the vague and dreadful suspicions that he had fairly seen taking form in her mind must be confirmed; that couldn't be helped.

He looked up, from the street, and saw that Carol's windows were still lighted, late though it was. So he went straight up. Steve Wentworth let him in.

"Where's Carol?" he said, dully.

"Down at your place with Martha—unless Connolly's found them and locked them both up," said Steve. "That was a fool stunt, Peter."

His lawyer's mind couldn't get away from what both Carol and Peter had so cheerfully and blandly ignored—the presumptuous, outrageous defiance of the law and all its powers.

"Oh, forget it, Steve!" said Peter, wearily. "It's all right now."

Steve was leading the way into the living room. He turned, amazed, at Peter's words, and stared at him. Peter saw Arthur Bouton, stretched out in a chair, a highball beside him. He looked irritated.

As quickly, as concisely as he could, he told the story.

"I will be damned!" said Martha's lawyer, when he had done. "And I've said in my day that the New York police department was constitutionally incapable of producing a detective! It's the first time since the Camorra got Joe Petrosino that I've had any doubts about that!"

"What do we do now, Arthur?" said Steve.

"Nothing. Sit tight. I'll keep in touch with the D. A., of course. Connolly'll have to grin and act as if he were pleased—and they aren't let anything that'll hurt Mrs. Thayer come out if they can help it. She'd better stay where she is till Connolly's had time to call off his men and tear up his warrant. We might as well go on down."

"But—"

"Oh—want me to spell it out for you? The doc was usin' what he found out for blackmail. Benny was one of his collectors—we'll get the others. He had Ross sewn up and he used him to start somethin' with a dame that hadn't started somethin' herself first. Like he tried to with Mrs. Thayer. Only she was straight, as it happened—and, besides, Ross fell for this Gould woman and had to do some two-timin' on his own account.

Three tired men, who looked more like the bearers of tidings of disaster than the couriers of good fortune, went downstairs, then, and waited while the doorman whistled for a cab. From across the street a tall, elderly man came, limping a little. Bouton hailed him, surprised.

"Mr. Cameron!" he said.

"Ah, Bouton! I'm lookin' for some people called Wentworth—my daughter's with them, I fancy. Is this the house?"

Peter looked curiously at Martha's father. He was a tall man; though, at the moment, he was a little disheveled, he had the fastidious bearing of one who thought much of his appearance. Bouton performed introductions.

"Ah, Mr. Wayne—yes! It was you telephoned me. I'm greatly in your debt. If I can see Martha—"

It was Bouton, the impassive, who laughed—almost hysterically. But it was Steve Wentworth, who, in the cab, flung the story at Cameron.

"God bless my soul!" said Cameron. "Well—the girl has some good friends—that's inadequate, but it seems to be about all I can say! I'll want to meet this detective, Mitchell. Brooks was still on guard in front of Peter's house. But Bouton knew him, and explained matters to him.

"Upstairs all the time, sir?" he said.

"Well—seen that you're here, sir, I'll take a chance and wait downstairs. But you'll understand I'll have to make an arrest if I see the lady?"

"Of course," said Bouton.

Peter used his key. Manuel, half asleep in the kitchen, its door wide open, started to his feet; he smiled, happily, as he saw Peter. Carol, looking tired, came out of Peter's room. She looked once at Peter. Then she knew.

"Then—it's all right?" she said. Peter nodded. She turned back. "Martha!" she called, gently. "Martha, dear—it's all right—you're safe—"

Martha came out. For a second her eyes sought Peter's. Then she saw her father, and flung herself upon him, sobbing.

"Oh, father—father!" she cried. "But—darling—how did you get here? You were in Palm Beach—"

"Started up by train," said Cameron. "Bestly slow. Changed to a plane. Had to make a forced landing somewhere in New Jersey—always hated New Jersey! Hired a car to come the rest of the way and here I am. Too late to be of any use, it seems, as usual."

There was a faint bitterness in his voice, Peter thought. He was revising all his impressions of Henry Cameron; he'd been doing that, indeed, ever since his first glimpse of him.

"Father—you mean you flew? But—you've always said—I thought—"

"Though you might need me—for a change," said Cameron. "Rather new, that. So—well, I came along. Man rather likes to be needed—human failing, I suppose. Feels his ego, or something. And you've been pretty much set on going your own gait, young Martha."

"I—" Martha tried to speak, and swallowed a sob instead. Once more, in a jumble of words, Peter had to tell the story.

"Bad business. Ugly business," said Cameron. "I've an idea. Let's jump a boat and go across, young Martha—just you and I. How about it, Bouton? Will they let her go?"

STEEL HEAD SEES BETTER BUSINESS

Gradual Trade Improvement in Sight, Asserts J. A. Farrell.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—Signs are apparent of a steady though gradual improvement in world trade, James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, said today in issuing a call for the 18th national foreign trade convention.

The meetings will be held in New York May 27, 28 and 29. "There are indications," Mr. Farrell said, "that the worldwide depression in business, with which we have been dealing for several months, is subsiding and that the upturn is beginning."

"Our commerce confronts a situation which merits the consideration of all concerned in foreign trade. It is a time for thorough examination of economic conditions and for practical demonstration of that spirit and habit of co-operation that so signally marks American foreign trade practice."

Borah's Pay Check To Fatten April 1

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP) Senator Borah will receive an increase of $208.33 in his monthly pay check on April 1.

The Idahoan was entitled to the raise six years ago when congress increased the salary of senators and representatives from $7,500 to $10,000 a year but he refused to accept it then, saying he had been elected to a $7,500 job.

Borah was re-elected last November and now feels he can accept the boost. In all, he renounced $15,000, which was turned back into the treasury. His pay check April 1 will be $853.33 instead of $625.

UNION LABOR CHIEF KILLED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 19.—(AP)—Three shotguns shells removed another labor union leader today—William J. "Wild Bill" Rooney, boss of the Sheet Metal Workers' Union for 16 years.

"Hi, Billy," someone called from an automobile parked in front of Rooney's home.

Rooney, pacing the sidewalk, turned and advanced. The muzzle of a gun was poked from a rear window.

Rooney stopped, started to turn, and three bursts of fire came from the weapon. He fell dead, his chest torn by slugs.

The assailants drove away. Witnesses could not describe them. The police offered no theories to explain the attack on Rooney.

The slain union boss himself was accused of murder 15 years ago after Joseph Conroy was killed in an election row during a sheet metal union meeting. He was acquitted. Six years later his name cropped up during another man's trial for a double murder in a loop wine cellar, a witness testifying Rooney was not the killer. The defendant, Thomas J. Walsh, was acquitted.

At least a dozen other persons were reported slightly hurt.

Heavy rains were general over western and central portions of the state at the time. However, an early check failed to disclose serious damage elsewhere.

Collins, employee of the Southwestern Light & Power Company, was killed when he came in contact with a broken high voltage wire.

The Mercer home was directly in the path of the twister.

Witnesses said the wind seemed to sweep along from ten to twenty feet off the ground. Scores of small buildings were tossed about and destroyed.

Estimates of the damage ranged from $50,000 to $75,000.

Local relief agencies offered aid to persons whose homes were damaged. Outside aid was not sought.

TORNADO BRINGS DEATH TO THREE

Clinton, Oklahoma, and Desdemona, Texas, Hit by Windstorm.

CLINTON, Okla., March 19.—(AP) Three persons were killed and nearly a score injured, six severely, by a tornado here late today.

Striking the west edge of Clinton, late today, the twister carved out a path three blocks wide and ten blocks long, demolishing a grocery and a school annex and unroofing at least a dozen homes. The dead:

Mrs. Louise Anderson, 81; A. W. Anderson, 54, son of Mrs. Anderson; Charles Collins, 23, electrician, electrocuted while repairing power line.

The most severely injured: Miss Lillie Anderson, daughter, and A. E. Anderson, son of Mrs. Louise Anderson; Mrs. A. F. Sans, Mrs. J. G. Mercer.

The Andersons operated the grocery. Mrs. Anderson and her sons were in the store at the time of the tornado and Lillie Anderson was in a nearby house.

A heavy deluge of rain preceded the tornado, which swirled into town from the southwest. The twister struck four blocks from the business district.

School children had vacated a frame annex and moved into a brick ward school building an hour before the annex was demolished.

Mrs. Anderson died from injuries when she was struck by a flying object. A. W. Anderson, 54, had a crushed chest and the other brother was suffering from bruises and shock.

Mrs. Mercer cuts and bruises, and Miss Anderson bruises and shock.

At least a dozen other persons were reported slightly hurt.

Heavy rains were general over western and central portions of the state at the time. However, an early check failed to disclose serious damage elsewhere.

Collins, employee of the Southwestern Light & Power Company, was killed when he came in contact with a broken high voltage wire.

The Mercer home was directly in the path of the twister.

Witnesses said the wind seemed to sweep along from ten to twenty feet off the ground. Scores of small buildings were tossed about and destroyed.

Estimates of the damage ranged from $50,000 to $75,000.

Local relief agencies offered aid to persons whose homes were damaged. Outside aid was not sought.

Mistaken Signal Cost Man His Life

SALISBURY, N. C., March 19.—(AP)—Interpreting a tug on the rope as a signal to "hoist away," a crew of workmen pulled what they thought was a bucket of debris from an 80-foot well they were cleaning near here today.

When the line was almost all coiled on the windlass, the body of Joe White, the well digger, was found about ten feet above the bucket, with the rope looped around his neck.

White had evidently been caught in the slack of the rope, and in seeking to free himself, unwittingly gave the hoist away signal which spelled death by hanging for him.

SPELMAN TO OBSERVE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Spelman College will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding on April 31 with a three-day program that will mark the golden anniversary.

Addresses by Dr. Julian Lewis, assistant professor of pathology at the University of Chicago, and the only negro on that university's faculty, and Dr. Rush Rhees, president of the University of Rochester, will feature the program.

An athletic meet on April 10 will be the opening event. At this time the women of the college will compete for the first time in a three-day program.

On April 11, a group of speakers will be held in the afternoon an educational program will include the address by Dr. Lewis and greetings from other institutions.

The story of Spelman College will be portrayed in a pageant which will portray the development of the institution from its humble beginning in the basement of an Atlanta church when eleven negro women first met for instruction in reading and writing.

The spiritual significance of the college will be recalled at preaching services on Sunday afternoon, April 12, at which Dr. Rhees will deliver the sermon.

HEAD OF ARKANSAS BANK CHAIN INDICTED

OSCEOLA, Ark., March 19.—(AP) A. B. Banks, one of Arkansas' leading financiers before the collapse of his banking chain last November, was indicted yesterday by the Mississippi county grand jury on a charge of receiving deposits in the First State bank of Osceola while it was insolvent.

The indictment was disclosed today by the sheriff's office here, before the bank here closed November 17, exhibited a telegram, purportedly signed by Mr. Banks, saying the institution was solvent and $100,000 cash was available for its use. Mr. Banks was president of the bank.

Since presented the grand jury by prosecuting Attorney S. L. Gladish alleged that the bank cashier, before the bank here closed November 17, exhibited a telegram, purportedly signed by Mr. Banks, saying the institution was solvent and $100,000 cash was available for its use. Mr. Banks was president of the bank.

HOOVER ENJOYS FIRST DAY OUT

President Has Open Fire in Captain's Room on Man-o-War.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

U. S. S. ARIZONA, At Sea, March 19.—(UP)—Via Mackay Radio to Sayville, N. Y.—The commander in chief of the United States navy—President Hoover—sat by a wood fire in his cabin nearly all day today, smoking, chatting, and having a marvelous time doing exactly what he wanted to do—and that was to take a complete rest from the cares of navigating the country.

A more active physical regime was mapped out for tomorrow, however. This afternoon a squad of sailors were marking out the decks in white lines to provide a medicine ball court, and tomorrow there will be resumption of the game that helps to keep Mr. Hoover and his associates in good physical condition.

President Hoover's private quarters consist of the captain's two-room suite and a private bath between. Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and Secretary of Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur are bunked in the admiral's quarters.

The president and his immediate party had luncheon in the private mess today, while the ship's orchestra provided an hour of music for them. At dinner, in addition to the official companions, he invited a group of newspaper correspondents—Robert Pickens, of the Associated Press; Fred Essary, of the Baltimore Sun; Theodore Wallen, of the New York Herald-Tribune; Richard V. Oulahan, of the Times, and this correspondent. At succeeding dinners he will entertain the other newspapermen in similar groups. The president dresses formally for dinner, as at the White House.

Tonight's entertainment, to which the president was invited, consisted of "talkies," with Joe Cook's "Rain or Shine" as the featured comedy. Owing to the rush of departure, the Arizona sailed without a full complement of men, and 257 sailors from the Mississippi will be taken aboard when the Arizona reaches Ponce.

After reaching out to sea, the Arizona plunged into heavier weather, and considerable swell developed during the afternoon. We will reach the Gulf Stream tonight, and the guests were looking over their flannels, which will be the unofficial dress tomorrow—if the weather man is in agreement.

Some trouble in the destroyer escort developed when the engines of the Leary broke down and the destroyer Taylor took her place in the line. The Arizona is hitting an average speed of 14 knots, and the riding is thus far—very comfortable.

Jewish Youngsters To Discuss Palestine

Approximately 200 boys and girls will meet in open forum at 8 o'clock tonight at the Shearith Israel synagogue when leading questions concerning the attitude of the younger generation of American Jews toward Palestine as a national home will be discussed.

The subject, said to be one of the most outstanding problems of Zionism, will be discussed following the regular Sabbath services to be conducted by Rabbi Sam Goffen. The open forum is being sponsored by 21 local Young Judea Clubs, and will be led by David N. Meyer and Dr. Harry L. Cohen.

STRUCK BY AUTO, WOMAN BADLY HURT

Mrs. Annie Belle Jackson, 400 Hightower street, was struck and critically injured late Thursday night in the 400 block of McDaniel street by an automobile operated by John Byrd, 1202 East Fair street, according to police reports.

Mrs. Jackson was taken to Grady hospital, where attendants said that her skull was fractured.

Witnesses are reported to have said that the point at which Mrs. Jackson attempted to cross the street was poorly lighted, and no charge has been made against Byrd.

SUGAR LOBBY GIFT PROBE POSTPONED

Delay Granted on Davis' Request, Caraway Announces.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—Investigation by the senate lobby committee of charges that a senator received $100,000 or more from a domestic sugar firm during consideration of the tariff bill was postponed indefinitely today by Chairman Caraway.

The Arkansas senator said the postponement was taken at the request of Senator Davis, of Pennsylvania, who asked that the inquiry be deferred until his return from a vacation trip to California.

The case will not be dropped, however, Caraway said. He added the committee would consider it as soon as Davis returns to Washington.

Davis had asked for the inquiry after the charges were printed in a New York newspaper.

John Holland, an investigator, was sent to New York and Chicago by the lobby committee to collect data. Holland is expected to return here tomorrow, Caraway said, adding he would go over the findings with the investigator preparatory to resuming the hearings when Davis returns.
